Famous 'Teams' to Split

Eleanor Holm and Billy Rose.

Fanny Brice

Art Jarrett

Unless it's all a gag two famous teams are about to break up—the Fanny Brice-Billy Rose duo and the Eleanor Holm-Art Jarrett pair. Rose himself made the announcement. He says he's going to marry Eleanor, the champagne-drinking swimming star, as soon as she gets her divorce from Jarrett, radio singer—if Miss Brice, perennial star of the stage, will divorce him. He hasn't talked to her about it yet, he says, but he thinks she'll agree. There were rumors to that effect during the Cleveland exposition, when Eleanor was appearing at Rose's Aquacade, but everyone decided it was just press-agent stuff.

Holm to Chuck Movies And Marry Billy Rose

Shapely Swim Star, Showman Declare They'll Wed as Soon as Jarrett, Fanny Brice Arrange Divorces; Romance Developed at Cleveland Expo Show.

DENVER—(AP)—Showman Billy Rose said today he had discarded all "silly shenanigans" about concealing his romance with Eleanor Holm Jarrett and decided to declare publicly they would be married as soon as they are divorced from their present mates.

And when they are married, Rose said, Miss Holm simply will be his wife. Her careers as swimmer, movie player and actress in his huge stage spectacles will be chucked.

Glamorous Miss Holm, who defied the American Olympic committee last year and was bounced out of the big Berlin show as a result, assented meekly.

Hopes for Early Divorce.

Rose said his divorce from Fanny Brice, comedienne, would be up to her. Miss Holm, he said, will take action to divorce her singer-husband, Arthur Jarrett, as soon as she completes movie retakes in Hollywood.

"I trust Miss Brice undoubtedly will get her divorce as soon as she can," Rose stated, "but she's busy on a picture and probably won't be able to leave Hollywood for several weeks."

He said he and Eleanor would leave immediately for San Francisco. She will hurry on to Hollywood.

"Eleanor and I haven't had much chance to see each other since we met and fell in love in Cleveland—where she was starring in my Aquacade production last summer," Rose recounted. "I was out in Ft. Worth all summer."

"She came from Hollywood to Ft. Worth last week to see the opening of my new show and then she came along with the troupe to Denver."

Now 37, Rose's career stepped through stages as shorthand champion, song writer, and "Fanny Brice's husband" before he attained top recognition as a producer.

At Beverly Hills, Miss Brice said "I don't know a thing about it" when asked if she would divorce Rose.

3 Sent to Prison on Narcotic Charges

FOURTH PUT ON PROBATION AFTER HEARING

DRAW MAXIMUM TERMS

Judge Warns Others Convicted of Dope Possession Will Get Same Thing.

Three of four Mansfielders who pleaded guilty before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston to possession of marijuana cigarets drew one to five year terms in the Mansfield reformatory and Ohio penitentiary this morning. The fourth member of the group was placed on probation for five years as a first offender

Sentenced to the reformatory were Maxwell Hoover, 27, and Theodore Heffelfinger, 22. The penitentiary sentence was imposed on Lorain Morris, 31, oldest of the four. Harold Rastetter, 27, was ordered to submit his probation reports to the Wayne county probation officer at Wooster and to pay court costs within 30 days.

Hearing Brief.

Judge Huston, passing sentence after a hearing which lasted less than 30 minutes, said: "I know of no other way to break up this dope practice than to impose maximum sentences. Any others who come into this court in the future and are convicted of possession of dope will receive the same treatment."

Although the four, arrested Oct. 14 at their homes here following a three-months' investigation by police, were indicted only on possession counts, Judge Huston said evidence indicated that one or more of the group had been distributing the cigarets in Mansfield

Chief of Police Meade K. Bates submitted police records of the marijuana investigation to the court during the proceedings, but the statements were not read at the hearing. Atty J. V. Will, counsel for the four, made no plea for

Roll of Drums--Marching Feet Mark Armistice Day

Thousands of Mansfielders lined downtown streets last night as the Armistice day parade swept along to the accompaniment of bugles and drums, the tramp of marching feet and the screaming sirens of Red Cross ambulances It was the highlight of Mansfield's observance of Armistice day, the 19th anniversary of the end of the World war, and was witnessed by the largest crowd in many years.

Veterans in their American Legion uniforms of blue and gold, the bright scarlet and white and gold of band uniforms contrasting with the drab olive green of the Battery D unit in khaki added color to the occasion.

Legion Host to Vets.

Earlier in the day, when the city paused for two minutes of silence at 11 a m., in memory of World war veterans who died in France, the Legion and its auxiliary conducted memorial services at the Doughboy monument in Central park.

In the parade were the veterans units, the Legion's Boy Scout troop, Battery D, Mansfield police officers, city mail carriers in their uniforms, and the Junior Order of United American Mechanics in horizon blue uniforms, trimmed in white Patriotic groups in cars and in gaily decorated trucks fol-

COLUMBUS —(U P)— A dispute between the Public Utilities commission and the office of Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy threatened today to block immediate action by the state to force the Ohio Fuel Gas Co to stop mixing inert, non-burnable gases with its natural gas supply.

The difference was over proper methods of legal procedure against the company

COUNTY JOINS IN STATE-WIDE RELIEF STUDY

Commissioners to Meet With Other Ohio Officials at Columbus Nov. 29.

THREE PLANS ADVANCED

Hopkins Hits Ohio's Relief Set-up as 'One of Most Backward In Nation.'

Richland county commissioners prepared today to join in a statewide study of the relief problem as the approach of winter emphasized the need of funds to care for the needy.

The commissioners will meet with officials of other Ohio counties Nov. 29 in Columbus to take up the financial angle of the problem.

The meeting date coincides with the opening of a special session of the legislature at which plans for handling relief will be presented.

City Conference Called.

Meanwhile, dispatches from Columbus today said approximately 100 officials from municipalities over the state would gather at the capital city Nov. 23 to take up the relief problem which has grown to sizeable proportions in the larger cities.

Three plans have been advanced so far for caring for the relief clients during the winter—one, which was suggested by Gov. Martin L. Davey, would provide for the matching of $7,500,000 to be supplied by the local subdivisions with an equal amount from the state.

Another, submitted by the municipalities, and recommended by a special relief committee, asks the state to supply $12,000,000 to $4,000 000 by the sub-divisions.

Urges Use of Excess Taxes.

Rep. Edward J. Gardner of Butler county, chairman of the legislature's delinquent tax commission, proposed that the local governments meet their relief needs from excess collections of real estate taxes over budget needs He estimated the amount would reach $18,000,000 in the state, with much of it coming from delinquent taxes

In Columbus today to dedicate Ohio State university's new school of social science Harry L. Hopkins, federal WPA administrator, criticized Ohio's relief set-up as "one of the most backward in the country.

"In this state the relief problem isn't being met," Hopkins said. The idea that the relief problem is only temporary was labeled by Hopkins as "an alibi to do nothing."

Discussing the WPA program, Hopkins said "the outline of a permanent program of national security has been developed through the establishment of CCC camps, old age pensions and numerous other agencies."

He added that the future of the WPA is "uncertain" with many new projects being started in cities with the understanding that if federal funds are not available for completing them, the local governments will finish them

PRESIDENT TO SEE PRIVATE UTILITY HEADS

Expected to Push Request For Valuation Reductions to Bring Down Rates.

WORKS ON HOUSING PLANS

Roosevelt Seeks to Influence Private Capital to Build Homes on Large Scale.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Roosevelt said today he would talk with private power utility executives next week, presumably about his effort to get them to lower property valuations with a view to bringing down electric rates.

He told a press conference he did not know whether they would take up the need for construction in the utility field. A lag in such construction has been mentioned in recent presidential conferences on methods to induce private capital to go into the housing and heavy building field.

Studies Housing Problem.

In the housing study, the president said two prime factors were being given attention—to get capital to go into the field and to gain the double objective of low interest and low building costs.

The lower these costs are, the president said, the better it will be for the buyer and renter of homes.

Another angle of the study he listed as a more or less guaranteed annual income for building trades mechanics.

He said the program, to be financed entirely by private capital, would supplement the federal slum clearance and low-cost homes project and would involve primarily individual and small apartment house dwellings for the low income groups.

Lists Causes of Slump.

Asked what was causing the slump in the construction industries, the president enumerated:

High real estate costs and the problem of getting transportation to town for persons who go out of population centers to obtain low acreage costs.

Cost of materials and cost of labor in some sections.

The fact that there has been little done by private industry to organize for large scale building.

He noted that it cost more per unit to build five houses than 100 houses.

5 CHILDREN DIE

Burned to Death When Blaze Destroys 2-Room Home.

OLIVET, Mich —(AP)—The five children of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wigglesworth were burned to death today when fire destroyed the small building in which they had been living on the farm of Gordon Raymond, one and a half miles north of here

The children's parents, with Raymond who lived in the other end of the building, were in the barn when the flames broke out.

Olivet firemen said the blaze was started either by an oil lamp or a small heating stove

The children ranging from a year and a half to 8 years, were in the same bed

The building in which they had been living firemen said, had been converted from a trailer into a two-room dwelling.

WORK ON CELL FOR MRS. HAHN

Workmen Building Quarters In Pen for Convicted Murderess.

COLUMBUS— (UP) —Remodeling of the third floor of Ohio penitentiary's hospital to serve as a sequestered cell for Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, convicted Cincinnati slayer, probably will be finished Tuesday, Warden James C. Woodard said today

The quarters in which she will await execution if her plea for a new trial is denied next Monday have been used until now as a dormitory for inmates employed on the night shift at the prison's power plant

The north room of the former dormitory is being divided by a steel screen into two sections, one to serve as a cell for Mrs. Hahn, the other for her matron.

Roll Call Off To Speedy Start As 17 Firms Join 100 Per Cent

The first few hours of the Red Cross Roll Call yesterday, the opening day, resulted in 17 concerns and offices joining 100 per cent in the Richland County chapter, a total of 179 members, W. J. Locke, Roll Call chairman, announced today. Within the same period last year only 27 members were enrolled.

First reports from precinct workers will not be available for several days Locke said.

The 100 per cent concerns for the first day of the annual drive were Ohio Textile Products company; Torrence Letter Service; Schmutzler cafe; Charles L. Wappner and Brothers; Holly Style Shop; Althouse and Jones; Richland Mutual Insurance company; R. A Kern Cigar company; Tracy and Messa Insurance agency; Ott Jewelry company; Halbark Clothing company; Kevey, Inc.; Seigenthaler Shoe store; Crowe's Shoe store, Mansfield Printing company; Dr W J. Acomb's office, and Dr. E. A. Smedal's office.

Although Shelby is a part of the Richland County chapter, it will conduct its own campaign independently of the Mansfield and county Roll Call. Tuesday night the Shelby workers, about 90 of them, will hold their annual "pep" dinner at the Shelby Methodist church preceding the drive.

Mrs. B. B. Brown, chairman of the Shelby Roll Call, said today that their campaign will start immediately after the dinner and she hopes to have it completed within a week.

Tip On Thanksgiving Dinner Cost – It'll Be Around $5.25

If food prices in Mansfield remain at their present level for two weeks, a Thanksgiving dinner for the average family — with turkey and all the trimmin's —will cost about $5 25.

Merchants aren't committing themselves on the price of birds at this early stage, but they believe that the retail price may be around 35 cents a pound for dressed turkey A small bird of ten pounds will be the top item on the list knocking off $3 50 with one purchase.

The dressing for the bird will cost in excess of 35 cents, for that will be the cost of a pint of oysters alone And then there is the "must" item of cranberry sauce, which for the berries alone—first class berries—will knock off another 20 cents.

And Jersey sweets? If you want the best they will cost you about 25 cents Two bunches of celery and another 25 cents goes into the holiday dinner Any kind of a green vegetable will cost a minimum of 25 cents, and if you tack on 40 cents for a mincemeat or pumpkin pie, you have $5.25, and you still must buy your butter, eggs, sugar and milk to be used in preparing the dinner as well as rolls and coffee

Mansfield is just about average in the price of its Thanksgiving dinner, for in New York City that same dinner will cost $8 and in San Francisco it will take only $3 25

If you can compromise on something less than turkey, traditional bird of the holiday dinner tables, the cost will go down considerably.

SLEEK RABBITS GIVE STYLISTS NEW TYPE FUR

Glossy Coated Animals Shown at Breeders' Convention Have No Rough Hairs.

FORT WAYNE, —(U.P.)— In touch with the times, rabbits—not the kind that run wild, but those who provide half the fur coats, neck-pieces and muffs for American women—are becoming streamlined.

At the annual show of the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders' Association here, the animal most attractive to delegates was a long sleek "Havana Satin," which featured a new and important development—a glossy coat.

Free of the rough guard hairs of the common domestic strain, this new type offered to furriers a pelt short, soft, uniform in texture, possessed of an unusual, natural sheen.

Trade Names Used.

Rabbit breeders are considered almost as important to furriers of this country as those men who provide sable, ermine and exotic brands. Although foreign furs are more expensive, the rabbit, simulating other animal pelts, is offered to the fur-conscious public in great quantities. Nubian seal is one type rabbit fur. There are 21 other legal trade names.

The annual shows are held to exhibit improvements and developments of old strains, and the origin of new ones, to commercial breeders. The fanciers, those who breed rabbits as a hobby, are "laboratory technicians," of the rabbit fur industry. With time for experiment and without too many animals to occupy their attention they are constantly introducing new furs or changing old style pelts.

Regulations of the association require a new breed to be exhibited three successive years before gaining recognition as a genuine "new model." Then, the breeder must show proof of some characteristic to justify this breeding innovation independent of other types.

Go Back Centuries.

Most breeds con be traced to Europe, and the bulk of the show rabbits are descendants of rabbits prevalent as far away as Patagonia and India hundreds of years ago.

A new line starts when a breeder sees a mutation, an unpredictable freak, in a litter. Always weak, the freak requires introduction of vitality, then over a six-year period the strain is strengthened. A likely offspring is mated back to the parent. This is repeated for five generations, when a cross is made with another branch of the now very large family. The six years, twelve generations, produces a true breed, a literal thoroughbred.

WOMAN BOSSES DESERT RESORT

She's Probably Only Woman In U. S. In Control of Community's Destiny.

SALOME, Ariz.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Addie Lee Van Orsdel, Salome's No. 1 citizen, probably is the only woman in the United States who controls destiny of an entire community.

Mrs. Van Orsdel is president of her own improvement company, founded several years ago to carry out plans originated by Salome's founder, Dick Wick Hall, to build a modern community and tourist resort in the middle of the desert.

The company purchased Hall's estate, the Salome townsite and several sections of land surrounding the desert spot and started a planned "business boom."

The first unit of her enterprise—a $50,000 modern adobe structure—now is open. A program under way provides for construction of 38 homes, to cost nearly $85,000, on the original townsite.

A "municipal" airport is being laid out on property near the renovated city. A huge storage tank furnishes water under pressure, and workmen already have installed a power-plant for Mrs. Van Orsdel's town.

Salome's renovator plans to spend more than $250,000 in the desert community.

The money with which the community is being rebuilt was gathered when Mrs. Van Orsdel and her husband "struck it rich" in the Arctic regions north of Mount McKinley after the 1896 gold rush.

100 IN CAST OF GROTTO CIRCUS

The tent circus season ended several weeks ago, but Mansfield will see one of the nation's largest indoor circuses at the coliseum the week of Nov. 22.

Brought to the city by the Baku Grotto, the Great Eastern circus will feature some of the outstanding acts of the show world. More than 100 performers, headed by Rita De LaPlata, European trapeze artist, will be seen in afternoon and evening performances during the week.

Among the other performers will be Harold Barnes, who does a complete somersault on the tight wire; Homer Bibson, famous bareback rider; the International aerial ballet and a score of clowns, including Percy Smith, Clint Barnes, Horace Laird and "Happy" Kellems.

Don Cooke, manager of the Great Eastern shows who has been in the city arranging for the performances here, has announced that a seating capacity for 4,400 persons will be provided at the coliseum. Grandstand and box seat tickets are now on sale at the Central Drug store, and general admission tickets may be obtained from Grotto members.

Six matinee performances of the circus will be given beginning Tuesday, Nov. 23, and evening shows will be held throughout the week starting Monday.

KILLS WITH AX

Hunter, Charged by Bear, Finds Ammunition Box Empty.

NEWPORT, Ore. — (INS) — Guns are all right, but Thomas Holmden will take an ax every time "in the pinch." He recently shot and wounded a large black bear—and then found he was out of ammunition. When the infuriated bear charged at him, Holmden was forced to use his only weapon, an ax, to end the struggle.

FINDS GERMANY HAS NEW SPIRIT, INDUSTRY HUMS

Mansfield Woman Back From Tour of Native Land, Tells of Reich's Progress.

A new Germany which is setting a fast pace in economic recovery—where bread lines have been abolished and depression is gone—that was the impression left upon Mrs. Ernest Klein, who has returned to Mansfield after a 10 weeks tour of the land of her birth.

Satisfied millions that eight years ago were being fed by the government, today are working through efforts extended by the government, Mrs. Klein says. The wheels of industry that had remained stilled through the post war period today are humming under the dictatorship of Adolph Hitler.

Everyone is employed, some for only meager wages," Mrs. Klein said, "but they are happy because they are not on relief. Even the army, where compulsory military training is required of all male persons over 21, is paid. During the pre-war era all members of the army did not receive compensation."

New and modern stores and buildings are rising in Germany today—a picture decidedly different than that Mrs. Kline and her husband left behind than eight years ago when they ventured to America.

"I talked to many persons," Mrs. Klein said. "I wanted to know if they were happy under their new government. Everywhere I received the same answer, 'we are happy and contented.'

'Of course, work was what they all wanted and now that they are back in the shops and fields again they are a contented people.

Little Talk of War.

"They do not think of war, and war is never talked about over there like it is in the United States. I think we here in this country exaggerate the idea of war a little.

"Freedom of the public press" Yes, they have banned those editors who have not conformed with Der Fuehrer's regulations against any anti-government propaganda. Yes, the news is censored to a certain extent, but it applies mostly to the editorials and not the news columns, although the people as a whole do not seem to mind it any."

Mrs. Klein did not see Hitler, she said, although she had the opportunity for she was in Nurmberg while the reich was in session and Hitler was there.

Most of the 10 weeks, she said, was spent at the home of her father, Adam Klenk, at Darmstadt, where she has two sisters and one brother. Darmstadt is a city of 100,000 population located in the southwestern part of Germany between the Main and Rhine rivers.

"But were were glad to get back to America and especially Mansfield" she said

Mr. and Mrs. Klein operate the North End grocery at 528 Springmill street. They have a son and daughter.

Independent stores compromise 89 per cent of the retail distributing outlets in the United States. The independents do about 87 per cent of the total business.

Here's How They'll Count The Jobless

(By The AP Feature Service)

WASHINGTON—In a single day, Tuesday, November 16, Uncle Sam's postmen will make the biggest house-to-house canvass in the history of the nation.

Approximately 150,000 regular and special carriers will deliver unemployment report cards to every dwelling—cottage and mansion, flop house and deluxe apartment alike—in the United States, Alaska and Hawaii.

As part of this first national unemployment census, there will be a nation-wide publicity campaign, conducted under direction of John D. Biggers, Toledo, Ohio, business man, to acquaint every unemployed person with the importance of filing his or her report.

The reports, showing age, occupation, weeks of work in the last 12 months, and other information, will be confidential. The cards must be mailed back to census officials before midnight Saturday, November 20.

BLANK DELIVERED . . .

Letter carrier A. V. Frye and Foreman of Clerks E. B. Brasse, right, of the Washington, D. C., post office, give a "dress rehearsal" of the unemployment census. Frye delivers an unemployment report to Brasse, who plays the role of John Q. Jobless. Frye explains how the card is to be filled out, that it must be mailed before midnight, November 20.

FILLED OUT AND MAILED

Mr. Jobless (still played by Brasse) mails his filled-out unemployment card. No postage stamp is necessary. It is important that every totally or partly unemployed person make out a separate card. Only one card will be left at each dwelling unless the postman knows that more than one is necessary. Additional cards may be obtained at post offices or from the postmen.

CENSUS DIRECTOR

John D. Biggers, Toledo business executive, was drafted by President Roosevelt to direct the census. His big job is to set the stage, enlist and co-ordinate the services of governors, mayors, civic leaders, newspapers and radio stations in throwing the spotlight on the census.

'MECHANICAL BRAIN'

When the unemployment cards are received in Washington, they will go through a "mechanical brain" like this one in the census bureau. These sorting machines will group the unemployed by race, sex, age, occupation and location, in preparation for the analysis.

STATISTICIANS

This quartet of government statisticians is preparing for the "double check" and analysis of census returns. They will provide congress and the nation with as complete a picture as possible of unemployment problems. They will study the geographical and industrial distribution of unemployment, work qualifications of the jobless, industries whose revival will contribute most to re-employment, and the number of dependents on the unemployed. Left to right, they are Philip Hauser, Dr. C. L. Dedrick, technical consultant to Administrator Biggers; George J. Lawrence, and T. B. Rhodes.

SHELBY CHURCH TO MARK 85TH ANNIVERSARY

Evangelical and Reformed Congregation to Hold Nightly Services.

(By Staff Correspondent)

SHELBY—The First Evangelical and Reformed church, Shelby's third oldest church and the first to have an organ, will celebrate its 85th anniversary next week with a series of special programs at the church.

Organized in 1852, the church then under the pastorage of Rev. Joseph Thompson purchased the Whitney property, now the site of the present church edifice. Prior to that time, meetings were held very four weeks at the old Methodist church building, the present Mott residence on Church street. The dedication of the church was held in 1853 with Rev. E. V. Gearhart, D. D., representative of the Central Ohio Classic of the Evangelical and Reformed church, officiating.

Buys First Organ.

A new organ, the first introduced into Shelby churches, was added to the church in 1858 and a bell, still in use, in 1862. In 1924 with Rev. E. S. Hassler, pastor, remodeling and enlargement of the church with the addition of several Sunday school rooms was undertaken. Dedication of the enlarged building was in 1925. A parsonage was purchased in 1911, adjacent to the church property, which was remodeled in 1930 under Rev. David Noll, present pastor.

Eighteen ministers have served the church during the past 85 years, including Shelby's first mayor-minister, the late Rev. E. S. Hassler, who served one term as mayor of Shelby and was re-elected for a second but died. Another of its pastors taking an active part in the civic activities of the city was Rev. N. H. Loose, who served 21 years as pastor, and who was president of the school board of the Shelby Public schools when the first high school building was erected at the site which is now Central grade school, in 1876.

Noll Present Pastor.

Rev. David J. W. Noll, present pastor, was born and raised at Fleetwood, Pa., where he attended rural school and graduated from its public high school in 1920. His later education included graduation with an A. B. degree from Franklin and Marshall college in 1924 at Lancaster, Pa., and a year at the Eastern Theological Seminary in the same city. Rev. Noll completed his education at the Mission House Theological Seminary at Plymouth, Wis., in 1927, and is now taking up postgraduate work at the seminary. He was ordained and installed into the ministry at the Saegarstown charge in Pennsylvania on June 19, 1927, where he served until coming here on Aug. 1, 1930.

Other pastors were: Rev. J. C. Klar, 1862; Rev. Adam Stump, Rev. Henry Willard, 1854-57; Rev. H. Hess, 1857-59; Rev. F. A. Edmonds, 1859; Rev. D. W. Kelly, 1861-63; Rev. C. Good, 1877-79; Rev. O. E. Lake, 1880-84; Rev. W. C. B. Shullenberer, 1884-93; Rev. Freeman Ware, 1901-02; Rev. D. A. Parks, 1903-04; Rev. H. C. Blosser, 1905-7; Rev. J. S. Freeman, 1908-10; Rev. F. A. Shults, 1910-14; Rev. C. F. Brouse, 1914-19; Rev. E. S. Hassler, 1919-Nov. 1929.

A series of programs are planned beginning Nov. 14 and continuing every week night but Saturday, ending Nov. 21 when the Heidelberg college choir, directed by A. S. Ebersole will give a special musical program for the evening service. The anniversary committee includes: Rev. Noll, chairman; W. M. Hassler, George Zeiters, S. J. Bloom and Walter Stroup.

Shelby Church 85 Years Old

NO CHILD TRAFFIC DEATHS IN YEAR, KANSAS CITY'S RECORD

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—Yes, it's true—not one child has been killed in traffic here for 13 months.

The director of public safety in Philadelphia at first refused to believe it. When a year without child fatalities passed Oct. 6, his office wired:

"Report circulated in Philadelphia stating Kansas City had no child fatalities in 1937. Please wire at once if correct and state methods used."

The safety bureaus of Buffalo, N. Y., and other cities wanted to know the answer, too.

Here it is:

Safety methods and psychology are kept constantly before every school child. The mail man brings him safety advice from the Kansas City safety council. His school teacher gives him safety lessons provided by the council.

Loudspeakers from two "voice of safety" cars blare warnings. The child hears about safety from 56 policemen on guard at dangerous school corners and through his radio at home.

Forty thousand children belong to the junior safety council, a self-governing body for pupils in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

The junior safety council handles the important school patrols of trained boys and girls who help schoolmates cross streets.

And municipal court judges do their part. If you merely are involved in an accident your fine probably will be $25. But if you endanger school children it's a $100 fine and 15 days in jail.

Large Diamond, Whose Owners Met Deaths, Not Wanted.

UNIONTOWN, Pa.—(INS)—The Phil Canton family is not superstitious—but they would like to dispose of a large diamond. Sullivan Canton, first owner of the diamond, died. Louis Canton, second owner, was killed in an automobile accident. William Canton, third owner, was killed recently in the crash of a Dutch airliner in Belgium. William left the diamond here when he embarked for Italy.

WEATHER MAPS ON CUBE TO AID OCEAN AIRLINES

Three-Dimension Chart Held to Be Necessary For Safe, Smooth Flying.

LONDON— (U.P.) —A three-dimension map, probably in the form of a cube, like a child's building block, is one of the minor problems technicians must solve before regular trans-Atlantic flights may be performed smoothly.

Experimental survey flights by Imperial Airways and Pan-American Airways during the past summer demonstrated the paramount importance of accurate weather reports and forecasts to the pilots of the oversea aircraft. The value of radio, of course, is beyond computation in transmitting weather information after the flight has begun.

Maps Flat Charts.

But since the overwater crossing takes only about half a day, the pilots lean heavily on the weather maps handed them at the takeoff. And these maps, at present, must express on a flat chart of Mercator's Projection weather tendencies in three dimensions. The commander must imagine he is looking at a cross-section of the air and interpret the symbols on the chart accordingly.

Experts are working on a plan whereby in future pilots will be given a large cube on which all weather data is described. Thus altitude will be shown as well as latitude and longitude when movements of air currents and temperatures are shown.

Experimental flights to date have led to these conclusions:

Atlantic weather has proved stable; that is, it behaves according to forecast. Therefore the 24-hour forecast may be depended upon.

Radio Aids Invaluable.

Radio aids to navigation functioned perfectly. Pilots of both airlines received regular reports and transmitted their positions on 30-minute clockwork intervals.

Co-operation of ships on the Atlantic proved a great aid and comfort. By taking bearings from any two ships, it was simple for the pilot to double-check his position.

The bubble sextant, developed especially for air use, was equally efficient for stellar observation.

An "inquest" into the experiences of the survey commanders will be held, data will be coordinated, and schedules worked out which will provide economical as well as safe crossings by air, when mail and, later, passengers, will be carried.

Scotland Yard's Seeking Increase In Women Police

LONDON—(INS)—Scotland Yard wants fifty more policewomen to bring the standing force to 150. It has a great admiration for their policely qualities and the work they do.

Qualifications for the job, as outlined in the official appeal for applicants:

Sense of humor (essential); patience, kindness, firmness, power to think and act swiftly, physical strength, an observant eye — and that reputed feminine characteristic, curiosity.

The would-be woman cop must be between 24 and 25,- more than 5 ft. 4 in. in height.

If selected, she will get pay ranging from eleven to fifteen dollars a week while a patrolwoman and a maximum of twenty-seven dollars a week if she rises to an inspector's job. She will get a small rent allowance, and free uniform. If she stays in the force 25 years she can retire on half-pay pension, and two-thirds after 30 years' service.

The Christian Minister

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Nov. 14 is I Timothy. 4:1-16; II Timothy. 2:1-4, the Golden Text being I Timothy. 4:14, "Neglect not the gift that is in thee.")

St. Paul, by every right is entitled to give advice to Timothy. On the grounds of age, it is "Paul the aged" advising the "youth"; on the grounds of experience, Paul has spent three years as pastor in Ephesus where Timothy is beginning his ministry. furthermore, Timothy is as a son to Paul spiritually, and as Professor Plummer says, "Timothy might have called himself the disciple whom Paul loved."

Minister a "Good Mixer."

Some folks seem to believe that the chief requisite of a good minister is that he be 'a good mixer.' On the contrary, Paul seems to indicate that there are circumstances in which a good minister must be a good "separator," able to separate false teachers and false teaching from true, and to keep his people separate from the corrupt manner of life taught by such "seducing spirits." He warned Timothy concerning "the hypocrisy of men that speak lies, branded in their own conscience as with a hot iron." He said, "If thou put the brethren in mind of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Christ Jesus, nourished in the words of faith, and of the good doctrine which thou hast followed until now."

Keeping Spiritually Fit.

"Exercise thyself unto godliness." Paul advised. "For bodily exercise is profitable for a little, but godliness is profitable for all things, having promise of the life which now is, and of that which is to come. Faithful is the saying, and worthy of all acceptation." Thus Paul underscores his advice that the young minister keep himself spiritually fit as athletes keep themselves physically fit. The minister must take Christ and his salvation so seriously as to strive desperately to labor zealously for spiritual excellence for himself and for his people: "To this end we labor and strive because we have our hope set on the living God, who is the Saviour of all men, especially them that believe." The salvation of souls is serious business. Let the minister so regard it and strive for effectiveness in it.

Ministerial "Dead Line."

Evidently Paul did not consider the "ministerial dead line" an old man's peril more than a young man's peril. For he urged the youthful Timothy to make sure of his continued growth and development: "Neglect not the gift that is in thee, which was given thee by prophecy, with the laying on of the hands of the presbytery. Be diligent in these things; give thyself wholly to them; that thy progress may be manifest unto all. Take heed to thyself, and to thy teaching. Continue in these things; for in doing this thou shalt save both thyself and them that hear thee."

A Full Time Job.

The peril of a minister's "going into business on the side" is that shortly he will find himself "in the minister on the side." Against this peril Paul warned Timothy: "Suffer hardships with me, as a good soldier of Christ Jesus. No soldier on service entangleth himself in the affairs of this life; that he may please him who enrolled him as a soldier.' As long as hosts of his people hug the borderline of spiritual illiteracy the minister may best devote his time to this field rather than to telling them how to vote or how to do a number of other things in which their training and experience may greatly exceed his

DEATH NOTICES

DODSON, Robert C. age 49—Survived by two sisters and two brothers. Funeral services Saturday at 10 a. m. at Finefrock's Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. Hagelbarger. Burial in Mansfield cemetery. (Finefrock Funeral Home.)

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of the late Mrs. A. Beaumont.

Mrs. Addie Beaumont, daughter of Thomas and Nancy Pickering Cage of Clarksville, Tenn., was born Sept. 9, 1846 and went to be with her Lord Nov. 5, 1937, being 91 years of age. For over 60 years Mrs. Beaumont has made her home in this city. Her husband preceded her in death June 23, 1891. Surviving her are three daughters, Mrs. Effie Green, Mrs. Clifford Jackson, Miss Lillian Beaumont, and one son, Clarence, all at home. She was a member of the Christian and Missionary Alliance. Mrs. Beaumont lived a beautiful Christian life and leaves to mourn, besides her family, a host of friends. Even while passing through deepest trials her faith did not shrink. Her devotion to God is expressed in the following lines:

On Jordan's stormy banks I stand
And cast a wistful eye
To Canaan's fair and happy land,
Where my possessions lie.

No chilling winds nor pois'nous breath,
Can reach that healthful shore.
Sickness and sorrow, pain and death,
Are felt and feared no more.
I am bound for the promised land,
O' who will come and go with me?
I am bound for the promised land.

IF YOU HAVE LOTS OF MONEY It's For The Other Fellow

● We rarely advertise bargains in used cars at Douglas Millers We always try to give every car purchaser full value and back it up with a money-back guarantee Reliable automobile firms generally have to get all a used car is worth or they don't stay in business very long

● However we have a very unusual condition at Douglas Millers this month Our new car sales have been the best in history, and we have accumulated too many used cars. Instead of a normal stock of 25, we have 55 used cars

● So we will make you this simple proposition Come and make us an offer on a used car We will refuse no reasonable offer — and very few unreasonable ones too Take the car drive it two days compare it with every other used car offered for sale in the City of Mansfield If you are not convinced that it is a bargain drive it back and we will refund every cent of your money

● Could anything be fairer? You take absolutely no chance when you buy a used car at Douglas Miller's It will be a long time before you have such an opportunity again. If you plan to buy a used car any time this year you can't afford not to see us at Douglas Millers today

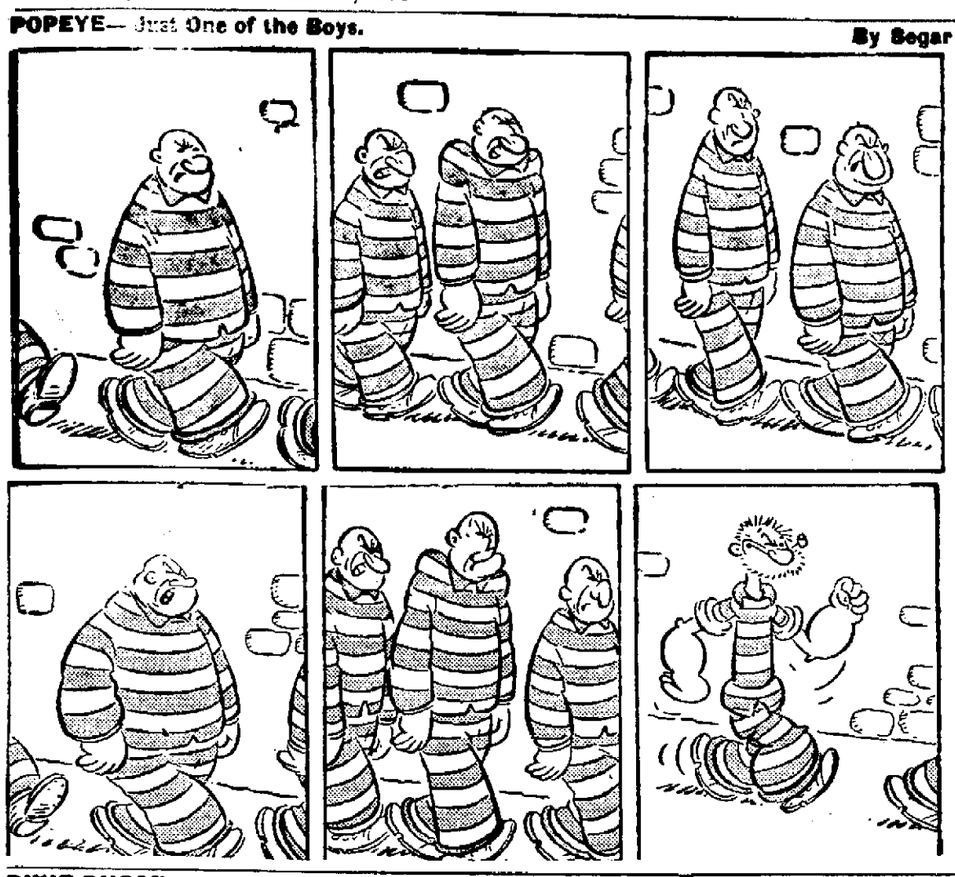
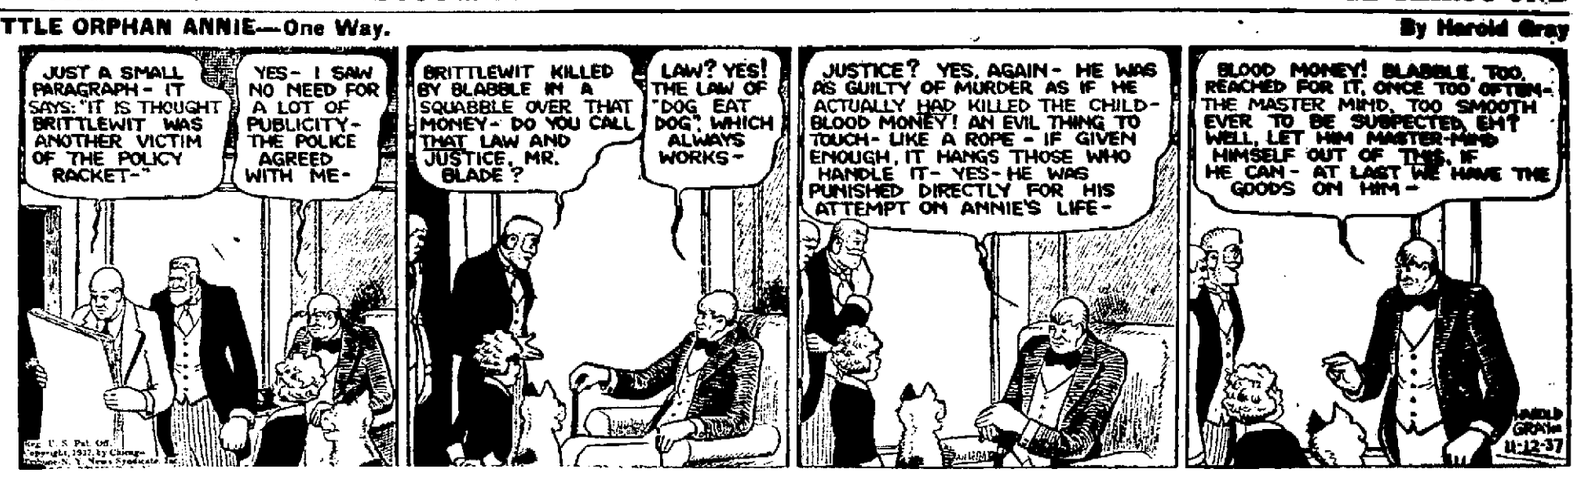
POPEYE—Just One of the Boys. By Segar

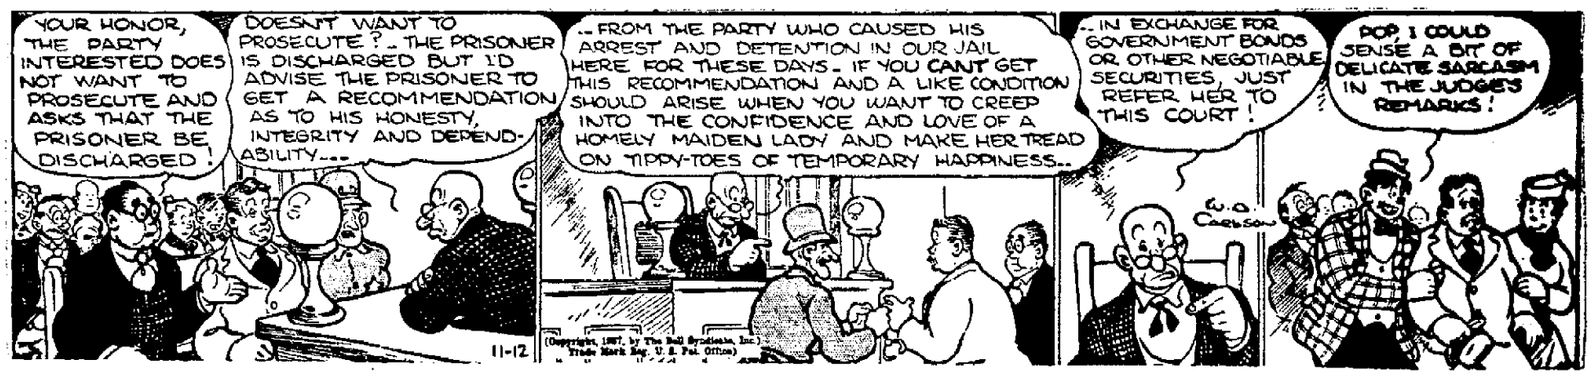


LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—One Way. By Harold Gray



JUST A SMALL PARAGRAPH - IT SAYS: "IT IS THOUGHT BRITTLEWIT WAS ANOTHER VICTIM OF THE POLICY RACKET-"
YES- I SAW NO NEED FOR A LOT OF PUBLICITY- THE POLICE AGREED WITH ME-
BRITTLEWIT KILLED BY BLABBLE IN A SQUABBLE OVER THAT MONEY- DO YOU CALL THAT LAW AND JUSTICE, MR. BLADE?
LAW? YES! THE LAW OF "DOG EAT DOG", WHICH ALWAYS WORKS-
JUSTICE? YES, AGAIN - HE WAS AS GUILTY OF MURDER AS IF HE ACTUALLY HAD KILLED THE CHILD- BLOOD MONEY! AN EVIL THING TO TOUCH- LIKE A ROPE - IF GIVEN ENOUGH, IT HANGS THOSE WHO HANDLE IT- YES- HE WAS PUNISHED DIRECTLY FOR HIS ATTEMPT ON ANNIE'S LIFE-
BLOOD MONEY! BLABBLE, TOO, REACHED FOR IT, ONCE TOO OFTEN- THE MASTER MIND, TOO SMOOTH EVER TO BE SUSPECTED, EH? WELL, LET HIM MASTER-MIND HIMSELF OUT OF THIS, IF HE CAN - AT LAST WE HAVE THE GOODS ON HIM -
HAROLD GRAY 11-12-37

THE NEBBS—Discharged. By Sol Hess



YOUR HONOR, THE PARTY INTERESTED DOES NOT WANT TO PROSECUTE AND ASKS THAT THE PRISONER BE DISCHARGED!
DOESN'T WANT TO PROSECUTE? - THE PRISONER IS DISCHARGED BUT I'D ADVISE THE PRISONER TO GET A RECOMMENDATION AS TO HIS HONESTY, INTEGRITY AND DEPENDABILITY---
-- FROM THE PARTY WHO CAUSED HIS ARREST AND DETENTION IN OUR JAIL HERE FOR THESE DAYS - IF YOU CAN'T GET THIS RECOMMENDATION AND A LIKE CONDITION SHOULD ARISE WHEN YOU WANT TO CREEP INTO THE CONFIDENCE AND LOVE OF A HOMELY MAIDEN LADY AND MAKE HER TREAD ON TIPPY-TOES OF TEMPORARY HAPPINESS..
.. IN EXCHANGE FOR GOVERNMENT BONDS OR OTHER NEGOTIABLE SECURITIES, JUST REFER HER TO THIS COURT!
POP, I COULD SENSE A BIT OF DELICATE SARCASM IN THE JUDGE'S REMARKS!

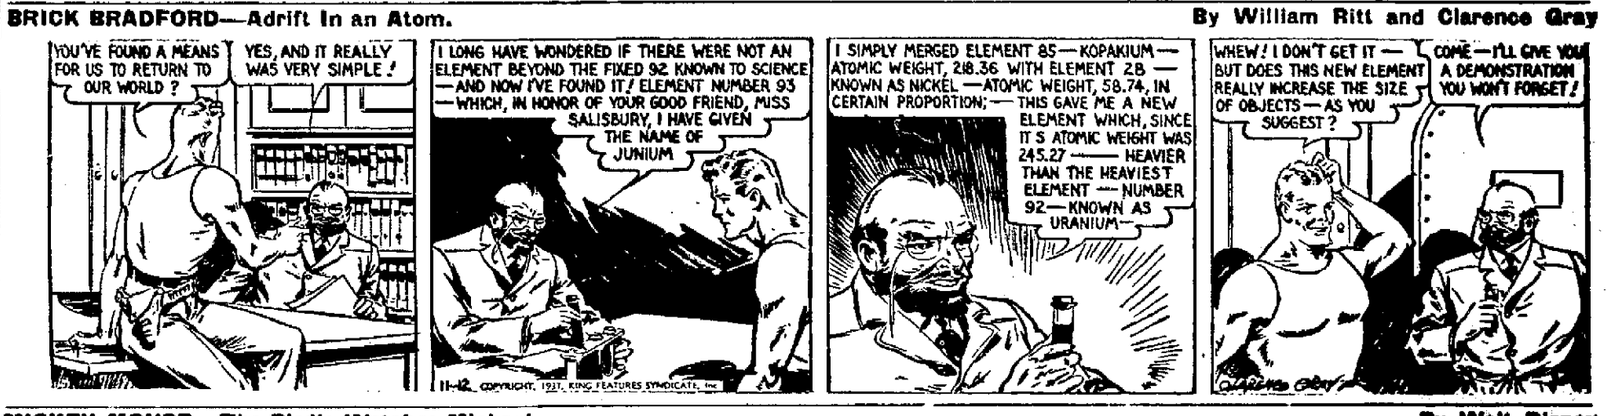
BRICK BRADFORD—Adrift In an Atom. By William Ritt and Clarence Gray



YOU'VE FOUND A MEANS FOR US TO RETURN TO OUR WORLD?
YES, AND IT REALLY WAS VERY SIMPLE!
I LONG HAVE WONDERED IF THERE WERE NOT AN ELEMENT BEYOND THE FIXED 92 KNOWN TO SCIENCE — AND NOW I'VE FOUND IT! ELEMENT NUMBER 93 — WHICH, IN HONOR OF YOUR GOOD FRIEND, MISS SALISBURY, I HAVE GIVEN THE NAME OF JUNIUM
11-12 COPYRIGHT, 1937, KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, Inc.
I SIMPLY MERGED ELEMENT 85 — KOPAKIUM — ATOMIC WEIGHT, 218.36 WITH ELEMENT 28 — KNOWN AS NICKEL — ATOMIC WEIGHT, 58.74, IN CERTAIN PROPORTION; — THIS GAVE ME A NEW ELEMENT WHICH, SINCE IT'S ATOMIC WEIGHT WAS 245.27 —— HEAVIER THAN THE HEAVIEST ELEMENT — NUMBER 92 — KNOWN AS URANIUM — WHEW! I DON'T GET IT — BUT DOES THIS NEW ELEMENT REALLY INCREASE THE SIZE OF OBJECTS — AS YOU SUGGEST?
COME — I'LL GIVE YOU A DEMONSTRATION YOU WON'T FORGET!

YES, SIR! YES SIR!
HIS NAME'S MICHAEL MICHAELS OR SOMETHIN'! HE'S TEARIN' THE TOWN WIDE OPEN! THE EDITOR SENT ME TO GET A CANDID CAMERA PICTURE OF HIM!
BUT THIS TIME I'M TAKIN' ONE WITH A TELEPHOTO LENS--- AN' HE WON'T EVEN KNOW IT!

EXPERTS TAKE STAND AT TRIAL

State Summons Physicians to Explain Nature of Blow Killing G. O. P. Leader.

POMEROY—(AP)—Special Prosecutor L. Crary Davis of Columbus today called medical experts to the witness stand as the second degree murder trial of Sheriff Roscoe O. Fowler resumed after an Armistice day interlude.

The state, which charges the suspended sheriff struck Lafe Williamson, Meigs county politician, a blow which resulted in his death several weeks later, summoned physicians to describe a skull fracture that was not revealed until after the exhumation of Williamson's body.

The 42-year-old Republican leader was found unconscious in the street June 27, after a fraternal club party attended by the sheriff. He died almost three weeks later.

The medical testimony was expected to answer this question confronting the jury of nine men and three women:

Did Williamson stagger away from the club on that fatal morning because of the effects of intoxicants or from a blow on the head?

Several witnesses testified that Williamson was "staggering" or "weaving" when he left the club shortly before he was found unconscious but none blamed his condition on intoxicants.

Jurors spent most of the Armistice day holiday playing cards and reading magazines in a downtown hotel where they were sequestered during the recess.

lowed the senior high school band and drum and bugle corps.

Two new units that attracted attention were the McVey Post drum and bugle corps made up of 35 Legionnaires and the John Simpson junior high school band in their spick and span outfits of white, dark blue and gold lined capes.

When the column reached Central park, it was halted long enough to permit Commander L. A. Cook of McVey Post, and Anton Maurer, of the Central Powers veterans, to go to the illuminated Red Cross in the park and present contributions from their organizations to the Red Cross to W. J. Locke, Roll Call chairman, and Roy R. Spetka, chairman of the Richland county chapter of the Red Cross.

The column moved down Main street to Fourth, and up Mulberry to Park avenue and back to the Legion home where it broke up.

ARCTIC DOCTOR PICKS TROPICS

Administering to Injured and Ill For Two Winters Is Enough, He Says.

QUEBEC—(U.P.)—Two summers of doctoring in the Arctic are enough for Dr. Fernand Lizotte, who is going to swap his mittens and "woolies" for tropical whites and head for sunnier climes.

The 33-year-old physician on the government icebreaker N. B. McLean soon will be sailing southward, where he can get something better than a plank for an operating table and is spared the necessity of diagnosing and prescribing by wireless.

The doctor from Levis, Quebec, patrolled the far-north shipping route to Churchill, Man., on Hudson Bay.

As the powerful icebreaker lay late, Dr. Lizotte took of treating a blood-poisoning case by wireless, removing an appendix aboard ship with two seamen as nurses and treating an Eskimo cancer case.

He instructed the staff of a wireless post in Hudson Straits how to dress their cook's blood-poisoned foot, when the ship was 200 miles away.

When Alex O'Grady, a Nova Scotian cook, became ill aboard the icebreaker while being transferred from Resolution Island to Nottingham Island, Dr. Lizotte decided immediately to remove the man's appendix. With the third officer and a steward as assistants, the physician performed a successful operation.

"We didn't have hospital equipment," he said, "but a piece of board made a good operating table, and I used my own instruments."

Carries Camping Ground Along

When Lionel Gibby, deer hunter of Ogden, Utah, goes hunting and seeks camping ground in the wide open spaces all cluttered up with riflemen, he goes "upstairs" to his motorized skyscraper and camps out. The first story of the unusual vehicle is the body of a light coupe. Upstairs is a wooden platform, bolted and welded to the frame, a tent and camping equipment. Gibby is shown with his son, Arthur, left, and a neighbor.

SISTERS ARRIVE FROM INDIA TO STUDY IN U. S. COLLEGES

ITHACA, N. Y.—(INS)—After coming half way around the world from her home in Bombay, India, Miss Lalita Kumarappa, 20, has registered as a junior in the New York State College of Home Economics at Cornell university and will begin classes tomorrow.

With her sister, Pritha, 18, who will take social economics at Wellesley, attractive Lalita sailed from Bombay late in August. They traveled through the Suez Canal and the Mediterranean to London, and then took another ship to New York.

In her native costume, and looking as well groomed as any Park avenue debutante could be, Miss Kumarappa told in soft-spoken English of herself and her homeland. She is not a princess, she pointed out, but belongs to what is known in India as "the upper class." Her father is a professor in a private educational institution. She has attended Lady Irwin college for three years at Delhi, in North India. This college has but 40 or 50 students, and is considered a "very select" one. It is subsidized by the maharajahs and others of wealth and social position.

VAST FORESTS OPENED BY CCC AS PLAY AREAS

SPOKANE, Wash. (U.P.)—Out in the Northwest woods away from the bustle of modern commerce, Civilian Conservation workers are converting wildernesses into "fountains of life."

Woods that until recently were recreational centers for seasoned hunters and fishermen, are now being opened up by the CCC to city dwellers who wish to get away from "overcivilized" environments.

CCC was established by President Roosevelt in 1933 to aid in conservation work. With that goal in mind, roads and trails were built for easier access to forests in case of fire; towers and telephone lines were constructed for detection and reporting of fires before they gained headway, and water developments were encouraged for the actual work of fighting timber fires.

Work Expands.

Gradually the CCC's work expanded. Anticipating that thousands of men, women and children would take advantage of the opening of forests, roads and trails, the corps built innumerable recreational centers. These areas varied in size from hundreds of square miles to a quarter-acre camp site.

Quoting from a booklet, "Recreational Developments by the CCC in National and State Forests," the "ideal forest recreational area is a carefully managed forest of probably a thousand acres, with no dead trees, nor impassable thickets of heavy underbrush. A lookout tower, with a telephone line to the ranger's station overlooks the area. A stream flows through the forest, and truck trails lead to the stream and to the lookout tower.

"Beside the stream is a campground with running water piped to various places from a spring. A picnic site has fireplaces, some under cover), rustic tables and benches, and a parking area for motorists.

"Foot trails lead along the stream, with signs occasionally pointing the way to a beautiful vista. There is a boat wharf, and a bathing beach with a diving board. A rustic bulletin board displays fire regulatins and game and fish laws. There are deer in the woods and plenty of fish in the stream."

Appear In Legion Benefit Show

The adventures of an intrepid girl reporter, of the kind that screen fare is made of, will hold the attention of spectators at the annual midnight show of the American Legion at the Ohio theater tomorrow night. A vaudeville revue and screen program will be combined. On the latter is Glenda Farrell and Barton McLane in "The Adventurous Blond," a newspaper story.

PLAN FINANCED FOR SEADROME TEST AT LAST

Engineer Reports Backing of British Company and Naval Officials.

SAN FRANCISCO —.(U.P.) — The most recent plan for construction of seadromes to promote trans-oceanic air lines has won the approval of the British admiralty and has gained financial backing of an English company, according to Harold B. Moss, Palo Alto engineer.

The engineering aspects for Moss' gigantic floating landing field have been worked out over a number of years in connection with M. E. Heiser, Australian, who 18 years ago, was believed to have been the first person to suggest mid-ocean landing fields to make trans-oceanic aerial routes as safe and feasible as possible.

The plan which has been worked out in every detail, approved by the British admiralty and financially backed by the British and Dominions Industrial Constructors, Ltd., of London, calls for a combined landing deck and tank that would make it available for both land and seaplanes.

Provisions are made in the landing tank for a 10 foot depth of water, which Moss declared would be sufficient to meet all needs, as planes of the Pan-American Clipper type can be safely landed in 4 feet of water.

Cost 50 Millions.

Estimates by the London company place the cost of two of the seadromes, which would be sufficient for trans-Atlantic use, at $50,000,000.

The use of mid-Atlantic bases, Moss said, would permit flights with reduced fuel supplies and consequently increased pay loads.

The project that has been approved in England calls for a structure 2,100 feet long with a width of 600 feet, supported on huge pontoons twice the diameter of the world's greatest submarines.

These cigar shaped pontoons would be submerged 150 feet below the surface. However, to stabilize the seadromes against violent surface storms as well as the normal drift tendency, special engineering problems were overcome.

To insure equilibrium against the force of storms, Moss and Heiser designed a series of downward pointing ship propellers, controlled by gyroscopes, sensitive to a roll of one-half a second, which would maintain the seadrome at its proper depth and prevent it from pitching. In addition, the submerged pontoons would be equipped to take in and force out water as might be necessary to maintain the equilibrium and proper depth.

As such a floating landing cannot be anchored in mid-ocean, somewhat similar arrangements have been made to overcome the problem of drift which ordinarily would carry it away from an established location.

The term, "to Bowdlerize," meaning to censor or cut out, comes from a squeamish editor named Bowdler who flourished in the early 19th century.

Theater Managers Face 'Bank Night' Charges After Raid

NEWARK—(U.P.)—Frank King, manager, and Joseph Hockenberry, assistant manager of the Midland theater, were at Liberty today on $100 bonds, charged with operating a "bank night" at the theater.

The theater was raided by police carrying out Common Pleas Judge Frank E. Slabaugh's, "no gambling" order. Equipment used in connection with 'bank night" was confiscated. Police said the theater was to give away $550 in prizes in the first announced "bank night" since July.

RUINS DISCLOSE INDIAN CRADLE IN SOUTHWEST

Arizona Mesa Considered to Be Oldest Inhabited Area In Nation.

HOPI INDIAN RESERVATION, Ariz.—(U.P.)—The origin of the famous Hopi Indian ceremonials may be discovered this summer by a group of Harvard University scientists who have spent most of two years here seeking evidence to fill many unwritten chapters in the southwest's 1,600-year history.

John O. Brew of the Peabody museum has announced a long-term program of excavation of "hundreds of Hopi ruins scattered along the windswept mesa of the Jeddito valley.

Additionally, he reported the findings of the scientists' two years of intensive research. He summarized them thusly:

1. This region is part of the oldest continuously inhabited area in the U. S. and holds an archeological record of the rise and fall "of a great people."

2. Test diggings have revealed the progressive record of the people about 300 A. D.

Gay Paintings Preserved.

3 Fifty gaily-colored, well-preserved wall paintings were found buried in kivas and showed the development of Indian art from pure geometric design to the first elementary attempts at realism. He said they will be significant for tracing origins of the spectacular Hopi religious festivals and the intricate Hopi social system.

4. A clear picture has been drawn of the true effects of the first impact of invading white civilization on a highly developed aboriginal people.

Brew said the long program now planned will uncover "as far as possible every aspect of Indian life in this valley from its earliest occupation."

Hundreds of dwelling sites will be examined. Ruins, large and small, will be excavated and tested to reach sources of important supplies of pottery, clay, stone and miners. Ancient methods of fuel handling and firing pottery also will be sought.

Test Made at 61 Sites.

The discovery of the Hopi murals, Brew reported, was the most important achievement of last year's expedition. Awatovi was selected for first elaborate testing from 61 archeological sites.

He described the murals of Awatovi as "running for a quarter mile along the south rim of Antelope mesa, and extending back over the mesa top about 390 yards."

Awatovi was the scene of one of the most notorious massacres of the southwest, still discussed in hushed voices by descendants of its participants.

Oregon Reports New Glimpse of 'Sea Serpent'

ASTORIA, Ore.—(INS)—Residents of this fishing port were talking "sea serpent" again today, following reports by a fishing boat captain and two members of his crew who "saw" a sea serpent in the midst of a school of tuna fish 30 miles off the Oregon coast.

The "eye witnesses" were Charles E. Graham, master of the trolling boat Viv, and his crew of two, Lark Wheeldon and Day Simmons.

They reported sighting the monster while sailing among a school of tuna fish. The sea serpent paid no attention to their boat, the men declared, until they were within fifty feet of him. He then "sank like a rock."

The monster, according to all three descriptions, was at least 30 feet long, with a head similar to that of an overgrown horse. The body was about four feet thick in the center, and only part of it was visible at one time. The head had no ears, but a long overhanging lip, similar to that of a horse "worked" constantly.

2 RAIL COACHES USED AS HOME

Owner Couldn't Get Loan For House So He Pays Cash.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y.—(U.P.)—Two abandoned railroad cars, which several years ago carried tourists along the now extinct Niagara gorge route, have been converted into a snug dwelling by an enterprising Niagara Falls bus driver.

Willard Lockhart, unable to get a loan to build a house on a lot he owned, seized upon the opportunity to purchase the bodies of the cars for $50 each.

After having the cars set parallel to each other on a cement foundation he built, Lockhart, during his spare time, replaced the old floors with hardwood, redecorated and painted both cars and blocked out some of the windows.

CALLED LOST ART

Rector, Famous Chef, Bemoans Dining in America.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—(INS)—Dining in America is a lost art, bemoaned George Rector, world-famous chef, on a visit to this metropolis, renowned for its pepper pot and scrapple. "The national dish of America is the hot dog, especially if computed by tonnage," commented Rector. "Gourmets and epicureans have disappeared from the American scene. We can no longer take time to eat because of our hurly-burly lives."

MAKES PETTICOATS

BUDAPEST—(U.P.)—Tons of flags and bunting used for the Coronation of King George VI have been exported to Hungary and are finding a ready market in the country fairs. Much of the material goes into petticoats.

As Players Prepare For First Show of Year

MEN'S CHIVALRY SLIPPING IN OPINION OF DUQUESNE CO-EDS

PITTSBURGH—(INS)—Chivalry? Alas, it is fast, fast slipping. Soon, perhaps, it will vanish, along with knights in armour, in the opinion of Duquesne university co-eds.

"What can they be thinking of?" asked one comely thing, tugging the bandanna around her neck with a most, most disgusted look. 'First thing you know they'll be asking for two straws with a soda."

"Why, I wouldn't put it past them. Positively horrid — and they call themselves men." She snorted as only a pretty co-ed can snort. "What's happened to chivalry and all that?"

It all started when some of the boys at Duquesne got the idea that it might be a good thing if the girls went 50-50 with them on date expenses. They were in for a rude awakening.

"None of us expects to be feted like Queen Mary nor to be embarrassed by splitting the cost of a hamburger," flared Rita Kenney, a junior.

How about that, boys?

"Well, it's time something was done," said Gilbert Helwig, editor of "Duquesne Monthly." "After buying corsages, theater, dance and football tickets, paying for a ringside seat table at a night club and other niceties that co-eds find necessary adjuncts to college education, we're lucky if we have the price of a hamburger."

Imagine Joe College going through college on a hamburger while his girl talks of chivalry. Is that justice?

CROP ESTIMATES FOR OHIO JUMP

Larger Yields In Soybeans, Apples, Pears Figured In November Reports.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Larger crops of corn, soybeans, apples, pears and grapes than had been predicted earlier are indicated in the November crop report of the State-Federal Agriculture service.

The forecast for the potato crop is substantially lower than that of a month ago, however, according to senior agricultural statistician Glen S. Ray.

The corn crop was estimated at 166,005,000 bushels compared with 121,605,000 bushels in 1936. Preliminary estimates indicated a yield of 42.5 bushels an acre, or almost six bushels above average. Corn yields showed high average outside the northern third of Ohio where excessive rains earlier in the season were detrimental.

The forecast for soybeans was 2,608,000 bushels, compared with 2,092,000 last year; buckwheat, 330,000 bushels compared with 320,000 last year; sugar beets, 188,900 tons compared with 259,000 last year; apples, 12,636,000 compared with 3,059,000; pears, 992,000 bushels compared with 384,000, and grapes, 37,500 tons compared with 26,400.

Mansfield News-Journal

THE MANSFIELD NEWS AND MANSFIELD JOURNAL
AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER
The Mansfield News Founded by W. S. Cappeller, March 7, 1885.
Published Daily Except Sunday by Mansfield Journal Co.
Office: Fourth and Walnut, Mansfield, Ohio. Phone: Canal 4251.

National Advertising Representatives—Tenney, Woodward & Co., Inc., New York, Chicago, Detroit, Boston, Kansas City, Atlanta, San Francisco, Los Angeles.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES — By Mail, Richland and adjoining counties, per year, $4.00, 6 months, $2.25, 3 months, $1.25 (in advance); elsewhere in Ohio, per year, $5.00; in U. S. outside of Ohio, per year, $7.00. By Carrier, per week, 15c.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1937.

Only one thing stands in the way of Ohio State winning more games—the opposing team.

Whatever the delays may be, the Duke and Wally will probably visit America "at long last."

Word comes that New York racketeers are openly opposed to any further political advancement of Thomas E. Dewey—they claim he's been hurting their business.

New Penitentiary Proposed.

SUGGESTION by Governor Davey that a new Ohio penitentiary be built on a part of the state-owned ground at London prison farm seems to merit consideration.

The old penitentiary located on West Spring street in Columbus, aside from being overcrowded, falls far short of meeting modern ideas of what a state prison should be.

If supplemented by such a prison as would probably be planned for the London location, it might appear advisable to continue use of the old penitentiary for infliction of capital punishment, incarceration of "lifers" and incorrigibles, and for the permanent segregation of perverts.

The idea of an intermediate penitentiary at London, serving as a link between the Mansfield reformatory and the horrors of the present penitentiary—with its death chair—might be made to fit nicely in plans for more intelligent handling of crime conditions in Ohio.

Snip Wires Into Bookie Joints.

METHODS employed in other cities are always interesting, especially when mention is made of someone you know.

There is, for instance, the incident that occurred in Toledo this week when police snipped the service wires of three gambling establishments, after being informed that the proprietors had opened their places for horse race bets, or were planning to open them.

Detective Merle Unkle, former Mansfield police chief and now head of the morals squad in Toledo, led the raid on bookie joints and cut the wires over which race results were received.

It appears that the state of Ohio, in which Toledo is located, has laws against bookie joints and other forms of commercialized gambling.

Especially for Young People.

HAVE you wondered why some young people—high school or college graduates—seem to get "all the breaks" in finding a job and winning promotions?

Read Elsie Robinson's article, "They Can't Be Bothered," on this page today, and you'll probably get a good idea of what it's all about.

Luck may occasionally play a part in GETTING a job—but it is quite unlikely to play any part in HOLDING the job, or in advancing to a better one.

If really ambitious young people could get an idea of the extent to which an employer's patience is sometimes tested by the slap-stick way in which some youthful employes do their work, and the lackadaisical attitude they take toward their job they could more readily understand why the careful, conscientious, capable young men and women, who can be depended upon to do their work without constant supervision, "have all the luck" in holding jobs and gaining promotions.

Interest, understanding, energy, initiative, honesty and dependable sobriety are essentials to advancement above mediocrity. If you feel that you will be satisfied with mediocrity "don't be bothered."

Partisan Broadcasting.

NOW radio news commentators are on the spot, and there are ... the question of "equal rights on the air waves." A newspaper radio editor says:

"The recent outbursts of sponsored commentators who present only one side of controversial subjects has struck the broadcasters a kilocycle blow that has them staggering. They are drawing radio toward the pit it has carefully avoided ever since the government turned the airlines over to commercial operators."

The situation has become so acute, he adds, that the president of a big broadcasting company recently issued orders that no more commentators could be signed without his approval, and says it is expected that when some of the present editorializers' contracts expire they may be held up.

It is ... ship desirable to keep any vested interest or self-... individual from getting control of this means of publicity, whether through the device of sponsored news broadcasts or any other means. The broadcasting companies have leaned over backward in their effort to play fair politically during election campaigns. But obviously their impartial policy is forwarded, and free speech is abused, if news commentators employed by radio advertisers, through excess of zeal, give only one side of public issues and no provision is made for the other side to get a hearing.

Comedy and Tragedy Mix.

WERE it not for the element of tragedy injected by the two deaths involved, that typical Hollywoodian marital episode of a couple of nights ago would have been quite funny.

There was the star performer, quite publicated, who took his good friend along home to alibi his late arrival. Then hubby, feeling "dopey," went into another room to sleep off the jag. When he roused and went back into the living room, there was his wife and his friend on the piano bench with their arms around each other. When hubby said "Whash all zhish," wife merely laughed and kissed the "friend" again, according to the story as told to police.

Then hubby ran and got his gun and killed 'em both—which robs the incident of humor.

According to one psychologist the world is suffering from an "episode collective psychosis"—which, loosely translated, means that a lotta people are acting like a bunch of nuts.

It is good for America to be neutral in act; but asking us to be neutral in thought is asking us not to think.

According to one writer, "All troubles are relative"—but some may prefer to add an "s."

YOUNG HOPEFULS

Keeping Step

By LESLIE EICHEL

Everybody Wants or Needs Something.

THE ROOSEVELT administration is facing an impossible situation. Prices "must" be kept up; living costs "must" go down; farmers "must" have relief; nobody speaks for the jobless; the budget "must" be balanced; the capital-gains tax and the tax on undistributed profits "must" be removed.

1. Prices are going down—regardless. And that may not be a bad idea. Lower prices, more sales—IF people have money to buy.

2. Living costs will go down if "nature is permitted to take its course." The trouble is "nature" in this instance is subverted by international trade stalemates and lack of buying power by a large part of the population.

3. The farmers will get their bonuses. But under the present distorted conditions of world economic and trade conditions, if farmers obtain bounties without restrictions (as some old-line politicians desire), the government will go bankrupt.

4. Does anyone really believe that nine to eleven million persons requiring food, clothing, and shelter to sustain the minimum of life can be left hanging between federal and local governments because a budget must be balanced and taxes reduced? How long before there would be no need for a budget or taxes? How long before there would be complete turmoil? We may, therefore, count on large—and sudden—relief appropriations, after the winter advances.

5. The budget CAN be balanced—when there is an unimpeded flow of international trade, and widespread distribution of domestic earnings, so that all the internal population has purchasing power. As it is, the quickest way to be plunged into Nazi-ism or Communism is to balance the budget through cutting down on relief and work expenditures. That is the bitter truth some businessmen are beginning to see.

6. Taxes may hit more people. If the capital-gains tax and the undistributed profits taxes are reduced, income taxes must be broadly extended. Opponents of this say: "That would cut still further into purchasing power, and plunge us still further into the depths. Sales taxes in some states already have cut badly into purchasing power. Neither the capital-gains tax nor the undistributed profits tax affect business earnings. They are a tax on stockholders, on investors. They may affect initiative and development and thus retard expansion and improvements (as do all taxes) but they do not cut earnings."

But it is evident that the president has agreed on:

a. Modification of the tax on undistributed profits.

b. Modification of the capital gains and losses tax.

* * *

PROBLEM FOR ALL

The afore-mentioned problems are not merely for the Roosevelt administration to solve. Every citizen, every business is vitally involved.

Pure economics will not be permitted to govern. Special interests will push this way and that. And congress will have no clear mind of its own, for it represents all the interests, and they are conflicting and greedy.

As for prices—everybody will try to raise prices again, as if that were the end to be achieved in order to solve all our problems. It may be the road to complete ruin.

* * *

PRICES

"News that two of the leading automobile companies are considering downward revision in prices has attracted a great deal of attention in the Street. This is the type of move that is believed necessary in order to break the deadlock in buying.

"Price advances on many manufactured products went into effect just before business turned downward and it is impossible to believe that there has been no connection between sharply rising prices for rents, food, clothing and semi-luxury items and the public's diminished purchasing. The latter's dollar of income simply could not go around as far as formerly when prices were raised everywhere and sales had to suffer.

"In moving quickly to shade prices business men are taking steps that should lead to a solution of many of the current problems . . ."

Labor and liberals will not agree with the next:

"Wages probably should be reduced also in order to assure profits and thereby attract capital to business enterprises." (This, of course remains a capitalistic country and capitalism can exist only with profits.) "If these objectives can be attained the amount of assistance required from Washington can be minimized."

Prices on many necessities probably will drop heavily the first of the year, and merchants will observe increased buying power immediately. That, in turn, will help manufacturers.

Fascists Hope To Win Nations From Democracy

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Being united now in an "entente" or some such thing, dispatches from over-seas inform us that Germany, Italy and Japan are looking about among the remainder of the powers and semi-powers in the world for additional members of their Nazi-Fascist hookup.

This should be interesting news to ... in democratic countries.

But especially should be be interesting to us here, in the U. S. A., inasmuch as it appears that the Nazi-Fascist group's missionary work will include the Latin American republics.

* * *

FRICTION COULD BE STIRRED UP

The Latin American nations are 20 in number. The United States brings the Pan-American total up to 21, but of course the United States does not classify as Latin.

Now, in part, Latin America governmentally inclines pretty strongly to the dictatorial, which might naturally be expected to make it sympathetic toward Nazi-ism or Fascism. In part, however, it also is very creditably democratic. There likewise is a more formidable communistic element than in the United States, but it is not predominant.

The main split is between totalitarianism and democracy.

Thus, with Germany, Italy and Japan making mischief in our southern half of the western hemisphere, a deal of friction might be stirred up within the Latin Americas, playing smash with our Yankee attempt to promote friendship throughout our segment of the globe.

* * *

ITALY'S INFLUENCE

Italy has tremendous influence up and down eastern Latin America.

We think of it as Spanish, but Italians are at least as numerous and more recent immigrants than the Spaniards.

Brazil isn't Spanish, anyway, but Portuguese, and Portugal is pro-Nazi or pro-Fascist—whichever one pleases to call it. For that matter, it is a tossup whether Spain is on the dictatorial or the democratic side—with one-half the country in the hands of the Fascist General Franco.

* * *

REFLECT OLD WORLD SENTIMENT

Japan does not signify in Latin America.

There are many Japanese in southern Brazil, Argentina and, in spots, on the Latin American west coast—sizeable colonies, in fact. But the Latins do not welcome them. Their attitude is practically the same as California's toward oriental immigration — extremely hostile.

* * *

LATIN AMERICAN REVOLT

A Latin American revolution by no means is the same thing that it would be in this country.

It really is equivalent only to one of our elections.

This, of course, is not true of Mexico—but it is true in most of the Latin republics.

There is no basic ill feeling; it merely is a change of administration.

* * *

FORESEES TROUBLE

But fundamentally some, at least, of those republics are democratic.

Their traditions are as free as ours—or more so.

Nazi-ism and fascism cannot succeed in corrupting all of them. Nor can communism.

Nevertheless, these influences imaginably can make trouble.

Let them clash and they can upset the whole Pan-American apple cart.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

Spending Toward Disaster.

By HARLEY L. LUTZ.
Professor of Public Finance, Princeton University.

The statement regarding the 1938 budget released recently is not reassuring. On the contrary, it is distinctly disturbing, because it conforms so well to the pattern that has been followed so regularly as to become an established policy. That is, it shows that at the present stage of the financial year 1938, the revenues are to be smaller than was first anticipated, while the expenditures are to be greater and the deficit for the year will be larger than the original plan contemplated.

As usual, also, there is no prospect of a balanced budget. Year after year, we have been told that the budget would be balanced soon, and as regularly, with one excuse or another, we learn that the first essential of good financial management must wait.

This time the blame is put, in part, on Congress. While one measure which increased expenditures was forced over the protests of the executive, there are others in the list to which no objection was made. It is only natural, however, that Congress should presently learn the lesson of spending, and that it should be difficult to curb a tendency which suits all too well the temperament of those whose support depends on getting a share of the granting of favors at the expense of other people. So far as can be learned there was no storming on the hear by Congressional extravagance such as there was so much of, for example, in the fight on the supreme Court. The most recent part of this case, is found in the old saying, "Boys will be boys."

The worst thing about the outlook revealed by the last financial statement is that there is now expected to be, by next June 30, a deficit of nearly $700,000,000 with no provision for debt retirement. Business has been improving steadily and the country has been approaching a peak of prosperity. Whether the peak has been definitely passed, as the stock market behavior might suggest, or whatever we are just looking down the hill to get set for a faster spurt up the grade later on, as the cheerful optimists insist, no one can say. But the query inevitably arises, as to how much more prosperity we must have before it will produce enough revenue to equal all the spending that official Washington seems determined upon. Secretary Wallace has just announced a scheme of "marzining" farmers on their corn crops to the extent of 46 cents a bushel. He is reported to have said that the money will be found, some way, for this gamble on future weather and crop conditions in the corn belt.

Few persons appear to realize how seriously concerned they ought to be over the government's financial outlook. Nothing can be more certain than that the budget can never be balanced if this cannot be done at the height of prosperity. In another slump, relief costs will rise rapidly while revenues will decline. What remains? Nothing but more borrowing, and when this fails, the printing presses will start grinding out legal tender paper money to pay the bills.

It is the sheerest folly to assume that because they have been idle thus far, it will always be so. Senator Norris said last summer that it would be a simple matter of currency expansion, to issue some paper money to pay the government's debt. He entirely overlooked the fact that when Germany, Russia and other countries began their disastrous post-war printing press inflation, they thought at the outset that they were engaged only in a simple matter of currency expansion. They learned differently later, to their sorrow.

It is a strictly non-partisan truth of the greatest significance, that a political and administrative group which has been responsible for great spending is not capable of doing the necessary economizing afterwards. All of its ducks are swans. To ask such a group to decide among its pet projects, when it comes to cutting expenses, is like asking parents which of their children shall be thrown to the wolves.

The federal budget must have some of its water squeezed out, if it is ever to be brought into balance with enough left over to do anything about the debt. If the country ever wants this financial result to happen, it must put a new set of faces in Washington, faces that will look with cold and fishy eyes on the spending projects that are the darlings of the present group. It matters not what their party. It is only necessary that they be sent there to show how to cut expenses and not to devise other ways of spending money.

Listen, World!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

They Can't Be Bothered.

YOUNG AMERICA—I'm for it a million.

Maybe it's the up-n'-attem air they breathe . . . maybe it's the Machine Age that serves their every step . . . . but, whatever the reason, they're the liveliest, smartest crop of humans this old race has ever produced. And—carping critics to the contrary—I believe they have the soundest notions of fair play, and general decency. Born to be leaders—not a doubt of it. And yet—

They have one weakness which, nine times out of ten, nullifies all their virtues and licks them in the end. And that is?

THEY CAN'T BE BOTHERED WITH DETAILS.

Here's an example. I've always worked with mobs of youngsters. Last winter I started a newspaper department for them—a space where Young America, up to thirty, might say its say on the questions of the day.

Newspaper space is precious—jealously guarded. Could millions of young people say anything that justified such an outlay? I vowed they could—won my point—and Young America got its column, with roof-lifting results. Never had editors seen such letters—so shrewd, so sound, so vigorously expressed. Not a doubt of it—YOUNG AMERICA HAD SCORED A BULLS-EYE!

But wait! One little thing—or was it so little?—was wrong with these phenomenal letters. Their ideas were brilliant, their reactions swift, supple and sympathetic. But, when it come to presenting their material—

THEY COULDN'T BE BOTHERED WITH DETAILS.

There are certain rules to be followed in writing for this Young America department, in competing for its prizes. Very simple, easy rules . . . with sound reasons behind them. For example—they are asked to count their words . . . confine their letters to 250, 300 or 350 words, as the case may be. The reason for this is obvious. When 2,000 or more letters are received daily, communications must perforce be short. Also—such limitation is essential to any good writing. Most of the contestants are students—many wish to be journalists. They will benefit greatly by this necessary discipline.

Again—they are required to write plainly . . . give name, age and address. Good taste also indicates the use of clean paper and ink, although these are not obligatory.

Simple, sensible rules, easily followed. Tests which Young America must pass if it hopes to obtain even the simplest job . . . the elementary essentials of success . . . within the grasp of the poorest and most ignorant.

BUT WERE THESE RULES OBSERVED? THEY WERE NOT! HERE WAS AN EAGERLY AWAITED CHANCE FOR PUBLIC EXPRESSION . . . a MOST WELCOME OFFER OF CASH PRIZES THEIR ENTHUSIASM SURPASSED ALL EXPECTATION . . . OVERNIGHT THEY ESTABLISHED A FEATURE UNIQUE IN NEWSPAPER HISTORY. BUT THEY "COULDN'T BE BOTHERED" TO OBEY THE SIMPLE RULES ON WHICH THEIR OWN SUCCESS WAS BASED.

"I know I've written too much but you can easily cut it down" . . . "It's silly to expect anyone to say anything in 250 words."

Such were their excuses and complaints—and with each excuse, each complaint, the writer revealed some fundamental weakness which will, inevitably, bar his or her progress in life.

* * *

GO ANYWHERE in the business world of today and you'll find the same condition. A surplus of eager, brilliant, young people clamoring for jobs . . . facile efficiency by the ton. But the Boss invariably tearing his hair because, in all that smart mob, he can't find one youngster who can be trusted to attend to small, tiresome, seemingly unimportant trifles.

One hears many a snicker from Young America, at grand-dad's old-fashioned, plugging ways. But in one point their fathers surpassed them—they respected details. They could endure pettiness. And they were rewarded accordingly. For life, after all, is made of trifles, and the fellow who can't be trusted in the little thing is going to flop in the big. The young genius who "can't be bothered" to count 250 words will soon find that busy publishers can't be bothered to read even his title.

I suspect they've been spoiled by machines—these brilliant youngsters. They've learned to lean on machines . . . they've let machines take the fret and monotony out of life. As speedsters and show-offs they're there 100 per cent . . . but when it comes to doing the small, obscure thing right—THEY CAN'T BE BOTHERED.

THOUGHTS while strolling: No artist rips open the stuffed shirts and reveals the straw like Peter Arno. Nor can any of the stage smirkers top Jimmy Durante. Vincent Astor's walk is almost a gallop. If I had his dough I'd just mosey along.

Royal tradition forbids speaking harshly to anyone. So-o-o, that's why no one knows what the Duke thinks of the Archbishop of Canterbury. But most of us have a sneaky idea. Impossible street scenes: Howard Chandler Christy without pipe and dog. Memory: Photo by Sarony.

Teeth wide apart celebrities: Henry L. Doherty, Katharine Cornell, and Harold Ross. The town's only unsigned columnist: Simeon Strunsky of the Times. And a fine one. Pierre Cartier sounds like a detective out of a French novel. And Abercrombie and Fitch sounds scratchy.

Put a monocle on Doris Duke's husband, Jimmie Cromwell, and you have a grown-up Charlie McCarthy. Mrs. George S. Kaufman has one of those white feathers in her hair, too. A fellow you see everywhere: Eddie Wasserman. Capsule review: Ernest Hemingway's latest is just another grand dirty book.

Never saw Harry Kemp, the poet, north of 14th street. Amusing book title: Mme. Alda's "Men, Women and Tenors." Swallowing a ripe plum name: Gelett Burgess. Funny Sayings Department: If Professor Quiz ever met one of my aunts he'd feel pretty amateurish.

Art Kudner, whose advertising agency is handling the publicity side of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor's tour, is one of the spectular successes of his field. Starting from scratch, he has developed an enormous organization, occupying elaborate offices opposite St. Patrick's on the avenue. He flies in his own airplane to his ranch in New Mexico for week ends. In appearance he suggests Karl Kitchen with a full crop of hair. Kudner is not socially minded and the idea of arranging the press contacts was suggested by a mutual friend of Kudner's and the Duke.

I was in a mixed crowd a few evenings ago where they recited limericks with the lid off. I hate limericks in a crowd and by wholesale. It brings out that silly lascivious look on men's faces and is worst on the faces of women. One has a touch of shame for the human race. A limerick is a thing for a tete-tete. More than one or two is like having too much caviar. I somehow dread seeing the animal come out on people's faces.

Amy Vanderbilt, of the collateral Vanderbilts, the side without whopping wealth, has become one of the town's sprightliest publicity ladies as well as contributor to magazines. A Lucy Stoner, she is the wife of a young department store executive and lives on Staten Island. Another Vanderbilt, Cornelius, jr., seems determined as ever to write, knocking about America and Europe in his de luxe trailer, the original free lance of the aristocrats!

Nellie Revell was the first woman press agent, doing a grand job for a string of vaudeville houses. Today, despite many bumps, she refuses to accept the Mark Twain dictum that life is a swindle, and is active in writing and broadcasting. Since Miss Revell blazed the trail, women press agents are plentiful and successful. Both in New York and Hollywood. Two in New York are reputed to receive salaries of around $30,000.

Much press agent material comes to my desk, naturally. And as a former member of the craft my attitude is sympathetic, but the fact is little is usable. It is largely mimeographic pap. The late Walter Kingsley was the ideal press agent from the columnist's viewpoint. He studied the columns, dug up gems of paragraphic possibilities and polished them up so they were well nigh flawless. And he winnowed more high class publicity than any other ballyhooer of his time.

My favorite soda jerker is devoting off moments to minnisinging. He thought this one right up out of his own head. "Little drops of soda, little grains of pie, make the drug counter profits mount sky high."

HORSE BREEDERS TO WAR ON FLIES

County Association Acts to Eradicate Pests During Winter Months.

A campaign against bot flies in horses had been launched today by the Richland County Horse Breeders' association which will distribute information to farmers as to methods of eradicating the flies during the winter months.

Co-operating with the association's directors in their campaign, County Agent George B. Ganyard said he would communicate with farmers in the county by mail and ask them to join in the drive against the parasites.

The flies, which hatch from eggs attached to the horse's legs or neck, find their way into the animal's stomach and attach themselves to the walls.

"In cases of severe infestation, the masses of bot larvae in the stomach often cause colic and are damaging to the health of the animal," Ganyard said.

As treatment for infested horses, Ganyard suggested the administering of carbon bi-sulfide doses to the animals by competent veterinarians.

Information concerning the treatment, he said, may be obtained from the county agent's office or directors of the Horse Breeders' association. They are H. K. Lehnhart, Washington township; Charles W. McBride, Mifflin township; G. B. Ray, Washington township; C. R. Sipe, Jackson township; B. B. Pettit, Springfield township; C. C. Hammett, Jackson township; William Pfeifer, Washington township, and G. C. Culler, Monroe township.

ASHLAND HOLDS EXERCISES FOR ARMISTICE DAY

High School Students, College Join In Program; Minister In Peace Appeal.

ASHLAND — Members of Ashland's organizations of war veterans, private citizens and students of Ashland high school and Ashland college joined in observance of Armistice day at ceremonies here yesterday.

In the morning, an impressive service in memory of the war dead of Ashland and the nation was held in the auditorium of the Ashland high school.

After opening remarks by Supt. J. E. Bohn, the invocation was given by Rev. B. F. Martin of the Congregational church.

The entire assemblage listened to the Star Spangled Banner and then for two minutes paid tribute to those who died in the war. The ceremony was completed with the firing of a salute and the sounding of taps.

Pastor Speaks.

Dr. H. E. Andrews, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the main speaker, urging all those present to enlist anew to the cause of peach each Armistice day.

Other parts of the program included a solo by Mrs. Walter Lasly, and music by the Ashland high school band.

Special music was provided by a double quartet composed of the Misses Mary Vanosdall, Henrietta Pete and Janet Brubaker of Ashland, June Ditmer of Pleasant Hill, Clayton Berkshire of Masontown, Pa., Charels Grisso of Smithville, Earl Shaffer of Warsaw, Ind., and Rexford Matthews of Ashland.

The day's activities were closed with a military ball given in the local armory under the auspices of two local national guard companies.

Urges Educational Campaign Against Evils of Alcohol

A nation-wide educational campaign emphasizing the evil effects of alcohol upon the human system and popularizing total abstinence as the best policy for the individual, was urged by J. Raymond Schmidt of Washington, D. C., general superintendent of the National Civic League, in an address last night at the United Presbyterian church.

Schmidt claimed that liquor dealers are making a special effort to sell the drink habit to women, girls, and boys, as well as men, 'something that makes the old saloon appear angelic in comparison with the post-repeal liquor traffic."

"It is folly to think that liquor revenue can justify the loss of life and limb on the highways due to drinking drivers and the debauchery of our youth in licensed road houses, night clubs, and drink emporiums of varying sorts, many of which disregard all laws for their regulation in their greed for profits," Schmidt declared.

He added that the spending of $25,000,000 by brewers and distillers in high pressure advertising and selling of alcoholic beverages threatened to alcoholize American citizens to the saturation point.

Schmidt is making a two-week tour of Ohio under the auspices of the state committee for prohibition.

THIEVES LOOT MARKET AGAIN

Get $54, Overlook $400 In Third Burglary of Fourth Street Building.

The Fourth street market, for the third time in three weeks, last night was the target of thieves who carried off loot amounting to $54 from the Buehler grocery but overlooked $400 hidden in another part of the market.

Robert Frary, clerk, reported the theft to police today when he opened the establishment and found paper bags and the empty money sack on the floor behind a counter.

He told police the money sack with he $54 in change had been hidden under the counter, behind the paper bags. He said he had deposited the day's receipts in the bank last night.

Police said all the doors and windows were locked, leading to belief that someone might have hidden in the market until after closing hours to stage the robbery or might have possessed a pass key.

A burglary in which the loss of $80 was reported by George Satterlee of the market restaurant, three weeks ago, was committed under identical circumstances Satterlee said today that the thief overlooked $400 which was in the restaurant office last night.

Two weeks ago, a purse belonging to one of the market clerks was taken from beneath the counter. A 12-year-old youth arrested by police the following day admitted the theft and was placed on probation by juvenile court.

FEAR FOR KING

Armistice Day Turmoil Leads to Precautionary Steps

LONDON — (AP) — British authorities today studied the possibility of adopting more rigid precautions to safeguard King George VI during his public appearances.

It was pointed out that the Armistice day incident at the Whitehall cenotaph yesterday showed the ease with which an attacker might break through guard lines and approach the king.

It appeared certain that 47-year-old Stanley Storey who shouted "all this is hypocrisy" yesterday during the two minutes of silence for the war dead, had not planned an attack on the king, but he had struggled through the guards almost to where the monarch stood.

Officials said Story was suffering from delusions and would not be prosecuted.

'Faith, Hope and Love' Help to Keep Peace, Armistice Day Speaker Says.

BUCYRUS — "Develop faith, hope and love and curb the war spirit" was the message of Rev. G. L. Burghard who delivered a spirited address before the high school assembly at the high school auditorium Thursday morning in an Armistice Day program.

"Let us dedicate ourselves to the peace cause in respect for those who died in what they thought was a war to end war" Rev. Burghard asked.

Col. Crawford Post, American Legion sponsored the program which followed a parade and short service at Legion Point. Bucyrus high school band led the parade and played war time tunes which were sung by the assembly at the high school. The Girls' Glee club sang one number. ABANDON PLEA

Powers, Snubbed by Japs, to 'Cold Shoulder' Tokyo.

BRUSSELS, Belgium — (U.P.) — The far eastern conference, snubbed by Japan, decided today to give Tokyo the cold shoulder and abandon a plan for a "final appeal" giving Japan "one more chance" to make peace with China.

Japan rejected the conference's peace offers for the second time and the powers considered a "final appeal" backed by an international threat to aid China if Japan refuses to reconsider.

They decided instead to prepare a statement giving a summary of the conference's efforts to get Japan to enter peace negotiations, and then send a copy to Japan as a signatory of the nine-power treaty.

The delegate felt an appeal would be useless.

JAPAN FORCING 400,000 FOES IN NEW RETREAT

Chinese Continue Flight From Shanghai; Japs Begin Raids on Anti-Japan Groups.

SHANGHAI — (AP) — China's Shanghai armies, about 400,000 strong, fell back today toward the Chinese "Hindenburg line" more than 50 miles to the west.

Japanese troops, numbering 200,000, forced Chinese from towns and trenches in the Shanghai area. The Chinese fought only rearguard actions as they withdrew toward the chain of trenches and pillboxes, stretching from Changshu south through Soochow, Wukiang and Kaishing, and protecting Nanking.

Nippon's war planes ranged ranged into the interior as the troops advanced. One flight bombed the American Church Mission hospital at Wusih, 80 miles west of Nanking, killing two Chinese staff members. Five Americans escaped injury

Raid Anti-Jap Groups.

The Japanese government in Tokyo today refused a second invitation to participate in proceedings of the Brussels conference on the Far Eastern war.

With the fall of Shanghai to Japanese, officials of the Shanghai municipal council began a widespread cleanup of anti-Japanese societies operating in the International Settlement.

Creeks, canals and lakes slice the terrain Japanese must cross before reaching the new Chinese lines. The countryside is ideal for guerrilla warfare such as Chinese stragglers in the north are using against Japanese.

Reports from Peiping were that thousands of Chinese were harassing Japanese in Hopeh province. Flood and famine refugees fled southward in Shantung province.

A check by Shanghai French concession police showed 14 persons were killed and 16 wounded in the concession yesterday. A number of American and foreign newspapermen and photographers were endangered as they watched yesterday's battle.

NEW REGIME IN BRAZIL STUDIED

Foreign Diplomats Anxiously Observe 'Dictatorship,' Wait Disclosure of Program.

RIO DE JANEIRO—(AP)—Foreign diplomats watched the unfolding of Brazil's new authoritarian program today with the assurance of Getulio Vargas' foreign minister that it was "neither fascist nor communistic" but had "democracy as the basis."

President Vargas, who assumed wide dictatorial power by replacing Brazil's often suspended "liberal" constitution with an authoritarian document in a bloodless coup on Wednesday, was seeking to fill out his cabinet, which moved over into the new regime almost intact.

Minister of Agriculture Odilon Braga, however, had resigned and his portfolio was offered to Fernando Costa, president of the national coffee department.

The situation in the capital was calm—as though no change had taken place—and this tranquility seemed to extend through the nation.

Foreign Minister Mario de Pimentel Brandao, elaborating upon previous government assurances that the dictatorial powers were necessitated by Brazilian unrest, told Rio De Janeiro's diplomatic corps yesterday that Vargas' action was dictated by demands from all parts of Brazil "for a solution of the manifest crisis."

It was reliably learned that Italian and German envoys to Brazil had made overtures to gain Brazilian adherence to the Italian-German-Japanese anti-communism pact but had been turned down.

UNKLE NAMED

Ex-Chief Leads Toledo Drive on Horse Race Betting.

Detective Merle Unkle, former Mansfield police chief, has been appointed head of the Toledo police department's new two-man wire cutting squad, Associated Press dispatches said today.

Two members of the morals squad were assigned to wire cutting exclusively in the department's campaign to stop race horse betting in Toledo.

Unkle has instructions to cut all wire services carrying race horse information to those places. Telephones also are to be confiscated.

Unkle announced that wires carrying race information to the gambling houses will be severed by the squad every day if necessary.

Future Farmers to Hold Banquet at Township School.

Robert Walker of Ontaria, who recently received his Master Farmer's degree from the Future Farmers of America, will be honored tonight at a banquet of the Ontario chapter of the Future Farmers of America at Springfield township high school.

Walker was one of seven Ohio young men to receive this degree at a recent convention of the F.F.A. held in Kansas, City, Mo.

SENT TO PRISON ON DOPE CHARGE

them. At his request the police files were turned over to him for inspection.

Admit Using Marijuana.

All of the members of the group except Rastetter, admitted using the marijuana cigarets over periods of from three to five years, stating that they had obtained the dope in Toledo, Wooster and Shreve. Quantities of the cigarets, confiscated at the homes of the defendants, were brought into court by Bates.

Referring to six other similar cases which have come into the county court in recent years in which the defendants were placed on probation, Judge Huston declared that "the probation plan apparently has not solved the problem and I have concluded that severe punishment is the only thing that will end the dope practice."

Judge Huston disposed of cases against R. F. Gottas, 66 Harter avenue, and Andrew Kissell, Franklin township, indicted for failing to send their children to school, by dismissing the charges with warnings of stiff fines and jail sentences in the event of further violations.

Both fathers pleaded innocent to the charges which were filed by A. H. Wood Mansfield attendance officer, and H. J. Sir Louis, county truant official.

Richard Redding, 19, of Shelby, was sentenced to the reformatory from one to 20 years on his plea of guilty to an indictment charging him with operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

SHARP DECLINE IN BIRTH RATE ALARMS FRANCE

Marriages Also Drop For First 6 Months of Year; Living Cost Blamed.

PARIS—(INS)—With this year's birthrate—and marriage records—the lowest in the past 17 years, the far-seeing French look today with understandable apprehension across the Italian and German frontiers, where bigger and bigger families are the Fascist and Nazi credo for making bigger armies.

The discouraging figures have just been issued by the government's bureau of general statistics, and cover the first six months of this year.

They record 317,207 births for the period—the lowest since 1920; and with births for April-May- June 1937 running 4,000 less than the same months last year.

Marriages Drop.

There were 132,270 marriages—also the fewest since 1920; and with some 3,000 marriages less during April-June this year than in 1936.

In the same six months of this year, 334,412 people died in France—or 17,205 in excess of births, which is considered an alarming decrease.

There were 11,600 divorces during the first half of the year.

The only reason given for the low numbers of marriages and births is the ever-increasing cost of living, which in turn is due to lack of confidence in unstable governments and money, and the constant fear of imminent war.

HEAVY PORKERS

40 Young Ohioans Raise Pigs, Join Ton Litter Club.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Forty boys from 26 schools recently won memberships in the Ohio Ton Litter club for the present year.

It's the first time 31 of the boys had gained places in the select group. Five others had been enrolled once previously and four of the remainder had held membership on two earlier occasions.

To become a member of the club a boy must produce a single litter of pigs that weighs 2000 pounds or more in 180 days after birth.

Play Leading Roles In Special Congress Session

WASHINGTON—When President Roosevelt called congress for the special session, he marked off the legislation he wanted

(1) A streamlined federal administration.
(2) Bigger pay envelopes for low-wage workers
(3) More dollars and crop control for farmers.
(4) A blueprint for the nation's natural resources.

Certain it is that big guns of the house and senate will boom for and against these measures. In numerous addresses, both from his fireside and the platform, the President has given the key to administration desires on each group of hoped-for legislation.

These desires have found both supporters and antagonists.

In addition, almost as likely to be in the limelight are Senators William E. Borah and Carter Glass. If the question of United States neutrality comes up, Senator Borah undoubtedly will have much to say. While Senator Glass's recent long and serious illness may cause him to sit by most of the time, any maters concerning state's rights and decentralization of government, for which he long has battled, are sure to elicit some oratorical shots from the caustic Virginian.

In the House . . . A Trio of New Dealers

John Joseph O'Connor

IF THE administration had such a thing as a single voice to speak for it in the house of representatives this Harvard-trained son of Tammany Hall would be that voice.

He heads the rules committee, that all-powerful star chamber for legislation.

O'Connor is a close-knit, heavily-built Irish American, born in Massachusetts, but brought up in New York City. He is the man who made a rebellious house give President Roosevelt a blank relief check of four billion, eight hundred million dollars three years ago.

Sam Rayburn

GENIAL Sam is the Houdini who swings administration bills through the house in full public view. That means the Texan knows the laws of gravity and strategy at close quarters.

The conservative Rayburn is 55, takes long walks through Washington streets, pals with Vice President Garner and Banker Jesse Jones from Houston. He is a veteran for the New Dealer, having shoved through the house the utility holding company bill, rural electrification, and stock exchange regulation.

Marvin Jones

THIS drawling Texan talks in the plain Lincoln pattern. He is medium-sized, 51, and hails from a Texas district that raises three basic crops, wheat, cattle and cotton.

He has mastered practical agriculture on his own farm and the statistical variety as well, probably accounting for his chairmanship of the house agriculture committee.

Agricultural economics, in fact, come easier for him than drawing room literature. Jones backed the old AAA, and when the administration offers its new farm bill.

In the Senate . . . Both Help and Headaches For President

Arthur H. Vandenberg

"I'M not an isolationist—but I most certainly am an insulationist," booms the Republican party's outstanding voice in the senate, constantly thundering against the administration's foreign policy.

"When congress orders neutrality, it's the president's sworn duty to enforce it," argues the Republican presidential possibility. He refers to the recently enacted law that directs the president to use embargo and keep Americans out of dangerous war spots

Vandenberg descends from New York Dutch stock like the president. He ran a $25-a-week reportorial job in Michigan into a senate seat.

Burton K. Wheeler

LOFTY-BROWED, palm-pounding "Burt" Wheeler was the chosen leader of the little senate band that frazzled the president's court reform plan

If the court scheme appears on the horizon Wheeler's the man to watch. If it doesn't, his sharp-shooting will depend on whether he thinks state's rights are at stake.

Wheeler has his own plan to help under-dog workers. The present wage and hour bill he thinks oversteps federal authority. Wheeler is 55, possessor of pioneer Massachusetts blood, but a political record that earned him the adjective "radical."

Harry Flood Byrd

THIS Virginia brother of Commander Byrd of Antarctica, is a political preacher whose text is "Cut government expenses." He rode the economy theme to power as governor of Virginia, and continues to pound it out in the senate.

Byrd wants to streamline federal administrative organization, but he also wants to save many dollars every step of the way. The Roosevelt scheme stresses efficiency, scouts the idea that you can trim big money off government services.

Alben W. Barkley

OF ALL the New Deal heavy men, the public eye will fall oftener on this sturdy son of Kentucky—the senate majority leader. He's the man who stepped into the late Joe T Robinson's shoes last summer by the margin of one vote, after formidable opposition from the Democratic party's right wing.

Barkley is 60, keen on running debate, and possessor of an authentic log cabin background. He's a conservative, loyal New Dealer.

MILD FORM OF BUBONIC PLAGUE SHIFTING EAST

Disease Transmitted by 15 Varieties of Rodents, Says Research Scientist.

RENO, Nev.—(U.P.)—Sylvatic plague, a mild form of bubonic plague carried to this country from Eastern Asia and transmitted by 15 varieties of rodents, is moving slowly eastward across the United States from San Francisco, Dr. Karl Meyer, research scientist, said today.

Thirteen years ago, in 1924, it caused 24 deaths in Los Angeles and now the disease is known to be present only in six Western states, so the spread is extremely slow and not alarming, Dr. Meyer said.

Can't Be Eradicated.

"Americans will have to learn to live with the plague, however," he said "because it is never going to be eradicated. We can only repress it but public co-operation is necessary. It is not an extreme hazard, and everything possible is being done to repress it."

Dr Meyer is head of the Hooper foundation for medical research at the University of California. He addressed a medical society meeting

He advised against handling any types of rodents. Ninety per cent of the cases are caused by direct contact, rather than transmission through fleas, he said. Dogs, coming in contact with rodents, should be closely supervised, he said.

The disease causes swelling of the buboes and a higher fever. The degree of fatality is not as high as that of bubonic plague, he said, but half the sylvatic cases develop into pneumonic plague, which is more serious.

The rodent carriers are principally mice, rats, chipmunks, ground squirrels, prairie dogs, woodchucks and rabbits. Known infected areas now include California, Oregon, Nevada, Idaho, Montana and Utah Dr. Meyer said. Two men were stricken with the plague at Lake Tahoe last summer, he said.

ASK CHAPERONS

Denver University Co-eds Risk Being Called Old-Fashioned.

DENVER, Colo.—(INS)—Risking criticism of being old fashioned, co-eds at Denver university are demanding chaperons at fraternity and sorority house parties, despite recent pronouncements by authorities on etiquette that such collegiate activities are correct without benefit of chaperonage.

'APPLE STATE'

Washington Has 4,100,083 Trees Growing, WPA Reports

SEATTLE, Wash — (INS) — Washington well deserves its nickname of the "apple state." More than 4,100,083 apple trees, enough if planted 35 feet apart to reach around the world with sufficient left over to extend from Seattle to Chicago were growing on fruit farms of the state in 1936 a WPA survey revealed recently.

Researcher, Wife Prefer Life On Lip of Volcano

HONOLULU —(UP)— Dr T A Jaggar famed volcanologist of the federal park service, makes his home on the lip of the volcano Kilauea where jets of hot steam vapors from the earth's depths spiral skyward

Almost at his front door, the tremendous firepit of Halemaumau spurts molten lava at intervals For the past quarter of a century he has resided in this strange home in the U S National park on Hawaii Island, 200 miles southeas of Honolulu.

"Aren't you afraid to live in such a place?" visitors ask the patient

Dr. Jaggar looks about at the tropical trees shrubs and flowers and doesn t understand their fear

"There is nothing to fear living here" he tells his friends "It is no different than a hot springs health resort The display of steam is about the same

"Kilauea is different only in that the water from which it comes is deep down in the earth and not available for bathing Proximity of an active volcano, of course, might lend a spice of danger if one did not know enough about them Mrs Jaggar and I find our home far from hellish"

NAVAJO STATE LIKELY ON MAP IN FEW YEARS

Struggle For Independence Is Believed to Be Past Half Way Mark.

WINDOW ROCK, N. M.—(U.P.)—Within the next two or three years, the United States may face the unprecedented situation of being asked to grant freedom to a new nation within its borders.

This new nation which is rapidly assuming shaps in New Mexico, Arizona and Utah is that of the Navajo Indians. For centuries they have lived in this wilderness area of desert, mountain and canyon. Even today they are cut off from much of the outside world by virtually impassable trails. But authorities of the three states know that little by little they are steadily coming back as a nation and steps are well under way for demanding a constitution and freedom.

In 1868, when the Navajos signed a treaty of peace with the United States, which had acquired their homeland in the war with Mexico, they numbered only 8,000 to 9,000. Today, while they are preparing to demand a constitution, they number 50,000, the great majority of pure blood, healthy, proud and self-sufficient.

Chiefs at Work.

The Indians have appointed a council of 66 of their chiefs to draw up a constitution that will give the Navajo people jurisdiction over their economic and social problems. They will ask to control the vast natural resources of their reservation of 25,000 square miles. What this may mean can be gathered from the fact that within the confines of their reservation have been discovered vast resources of oil and coal in addition to forests which have remained undeveloped.

But even more than this, their proposed constitution probably will ask that they be given back the right to regulate their own lives, and that the Indian bureau act merely in an advisory capacity.

Thus it will be the first time in the history of the United States that any one of the conquered Indian tribes has reached a point of political and economic strength where it has been able to insist on the right of becoming a self-supporting and independent nation. Incidentally, the indepedent nation which the Navajos will ask be granted them, will not be a small one, for the Navajo territory still under their jurisdiction as a esevation is as lage as New England.

Present plans provide that the capital be established at Window Rock, 30 miles northwest of Gallup, N. M. New Mexico wanted the proposed capital at Gallup, but Indian politicians were opposed to such a location so that the seat of the new Navajo government would not be in close proximity to gambling dens, saloons, and all the hurdy-gurdy atmosphere of wide-open western towns that proved the ruin of so many Indians.

Actually the new capital already has been orgauized. The Federal government has spent close to $1,000,000 upon it. A fine council house has been built in which the new Navajo senate hopes to sit. It is also here that the commission of chiefs is engaged in drafting the proposed constitution, headed by such capable and distinguished Navajos as Chee Dodge, aged treaty chief; Yellow Policeman; Thomas Dodge, young Navajo attorney, Henry Taliman, Dashnay Chischilliggi, Jim Shirley and others.

World's Tonic Was Only Thing That Eased His Stomach Troubles

Barberton Man Tells How He Was Quickly Relieved of Gas, Acid Risings and Cramps

Pains in Back, Arms and Limbs Kept Him Miserable—World's Tonic Cleansed Poisons From His System and All These Troubles Disappeared

Mr. Harry Hawkins who resides at 63 Hustin St., Barberton, O., says: "I have been troubled for some time with stomach disorders. Everything I ate disagreed with me. Instead of digesting properly, the food seemed to lay heavy in my stomach like a rock, turn sour and I would rift up a hot, sour, watery liquid, which would burn and irritate my throat. During these spells quantities of gas would form and make me feel bloated. This gas often caused me to have heartburn and shortness of breath. When I stooped over, blood would rush to my head as if I had high blood pressure.

"My whole body was full of aches and pains, and seemed to be worse in the muscles of my back, arms and legs. Some days these pains were so bad I could hardly get around.

"So many people were speaking favorably of World's Tonic that I began taking it a few weeks ago and really I've never had any medicine to give such grand relief. In fact, World's Tonic is the only medicine that eased my stomach.

"Now I eat anything that comes on the table and am entirely free of the gas, sour stomach, cramps and bloating. World's Tonic got my bowels acting regularly every day; then those aching pains left my body. I enjoy sound sleep every night that rests me thoroughly and awaken feeling ready for my day's work. World's Tonic is a fine medicine and I recommend it to everyone feeling as I did."

World's Tonic is a modern up-to-date medicine, as it comes from the various parts of the world where we or most of our ancestors originally came from.

WHAT TO EAT TO GET Strength-Building Iron, Iodine and Vitamins INTO BLOOD & GLANDS

How Kelpamalt, Rich Iron, Iodine, Vitamin Concentrate From the Sea, has Built Hosts of Worn-out, Pale, Sickly Folks into Strong, Red-Blooded Men and Women

Malnutrition (an insufficient supply of minerals and vitamins) often explains why folks stay thin, ailing, worn out with weakened resistance. Doctors know appetite satisfying foods are deceiving because frequently they lack vital minerals and essential vitamins needed for body building. As a result you do not get the good out of the food you eat and your system lacks in strength, energy and weight.

Many thousands of sickly, pale, ailing folks have found glorious relief with Kelpamalt. This amazing iron, iodine and vitamin concentrate is rich in vital elements necessary for the body's chemical processes. It contains available iron, copper, phosphorous and calcium vitally needed for blood and tissue building. Most important is Kelpamalt; a natural iodine, not to be confused with ordinary liquid, chemical iodine. Iodine, scientists say, is found in the blood, liver and glands. It is vitally important to their normal functioning. Experts recommend the addition of two plates of oysters each week for their iodine, yet Kelpamalt is far richer in iodine than oysters. In addition to these precious minerals, Kelpamalt contributes to the supply of the resistance building Vitamin A, the growth and body building Vitamin G the blood building Vitamin C and the bone building Vitamin D. It is only when there is an adequate supply of vitamins plus minerals that you can get the good out of your food.

Make This Simple Test

Try Seedol Kelpamalt for 1 week. See if like thousands of others you don't feel better, sleep better, eat better and add at least 5 lbs. in new flesh the first week. If you don't find the trial is free. It costs you nothing. Your own doctor will approve this way. Get Seedol Kelpamalt now. It costs but a few cents a day to use. Beware of cheap, ineffective substitutes. Insist on genuine $1.25 size 84c

Key Russian Ambassadors Linked In New Soviet Purge

3 DIPLOMATS UNDER ARREST, LONDON HEARS

Envoys to Germany, Turkey, Poland Reported Involved In Soviet Movement.

LONDON —(U.P.)— Three key Russian ambassadors were reported today to be involved in a purge of the Soviet government diplomatic corps, a dramatic climax to a merciless campaign against "enemies of the state."

The United Press correspondent at Moscow reported that Constantine Yurenev, ambassador to Germany, and Michael Karski, ambassador to Turkey, had been arrested, apparently in connection with a new purge. The correspondent said the reports had not been confirmed officially.

Warsaw newspapers published a report that not only the Russian ambassador to Poland, Janov K. Davtian, but G. Alexandrov, second secretary and press attache, were involved. They are believed now to be in Moscow, and the Warsaw newspapers, in a dispatch carried by the authoritative Polish Telegraph agency, reported they would not return to their posts.

German Consul Recalled.

In transmitting the report that the ambassadors to Germany and Turkey had been arrested, the United Press correspondent said the German counsul general at Leningrad had been recalled at the request of the Russian government.

This request was similar to demands made on Japan several weeks ago to remove two consuls in Russia far eastern cities.

As in the case of the demand on Japan, Russia cited to Germany, the United Press correspondent said, that the request was made to equalize the number of consuls exchanged between Russia and Germany. Russia explained that there were only two Russian consulates in Germany against four or five German consulates in Russia.

Constantine Yurenev, the Russian ambassador to Germany, is a star of the Soviet diplomatic corps. He was named to his present post only on June 17, and significantly perhaps, he was transferred there from Japan, with which Germany several months previously had negotiated its anti-Communist Alliance—to which Italy has now adhered.

Hunters Prepare For Big Season; Rabbits Plentiful

With prospects of the best game supply in years, hunters from the Mansfield area will join thousands of nimrods from other sections of Ohio in the annual trek into the woods and fields at noon Monday.

Most of the counties of the state report plenty of rabbits and in the northwestern Ohio "pheasant belt," the birds are said to be numerous. The pheasant season, which opens at noon Monday has been extended from Nov. 25 to Nov. 27 by the state conservation council.

The law specifies that only two cock birds may be shot in one day, and hunting is legal only between the hours of 7 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. after Nov. 15. Female birds are protected.

Hunters are permitted to bag five rabbits in a day from noon Monday until Jan. 1. Rabbits cannot be shot before noon the opening day but after that the time limit is from one hour before sunrise to one hour after sunset. Trapping is permissible at any time during the open season.

Also opening at noon Monday will be the seasons on skunk, o'possum and raccoon.

HITS STATE ON DANVILLE ISSUE

Mt. Vernon Attorney Holds 'Pressure" Used In Vote On Bonds.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The Knox county prosecutor was asked today to determine whether Ohio Department of Eudcation officials violated state eelction laws by attempting to force voters of the Danville school district to vote for a school bond issue at the Nov. 2 election.

Robert J. Grossman, Mt. Vernon attorney and official of the Tax Limitation League, Inc., charged in a letter to the prosecutor that state school officials revoked the Danville school's first grade certificate shortly before election in an effort to force the voters to approve an issue to build a new building.

The bond issue, defeated at a special election in September, was again defeated on Nov. 2.

WHAT'S THIS, ANYHOW?

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(U.P.)—The Davidson county grand jury was puzzled over this one today: A warrant sworn by Mrs. Percy Jackson charged her husband with "assault with a large turkey dinner or carving fork with intent to kill."

Missing Dry Leader Found, Probe Pressed

Up and Down THE STREET

A black walnut desk that for a half century has been undisturbed in the basement of the John E. Angle grocery store on South Park street, has finally been resurrected and cleaned up. It was in use in 1880 when John Angle was a clerk in the Albert W. Remy & Son store. It bears the mark of a woodworking firm of that time, "Niman & Stra—" the last several letters of the final name being obliterated by time. Who knows the name of the other member of the firm?

J. Earl Ports, who was a captain during the World war and later lieutenant colonel of the Ohio National Guard, let the chill November air get the best of his military training in last night's Armistice parade. Marching at the head of a contingent he forgot that "chest out—stomach in—hands at side" when the parade halted at Central park, and did exactly the opposite of all three points. His hands were in the pockets of his whipcord breeches.

Gerald Guthrie, who has been a postal employe for the past 20 years, and at one of the stamp windows for the past 12, was celebrating his birthday today—his 45th, by the way. How was he celebrating? Well, you know the story about the postman who took a walk on his day off. Guthrie celebrated by being "right on the job" at the stamp window.

* * *

A section of North Main street across from Central park today took on the appearance of a miniature menagerie. In one store window two husky turkeys are on display in a pen, looking contented enough despite the impending Thanksgiving holiday, and just two doors away a pet raccoon whiles his time away sleeping in an improvised den. The dozens of pedestrians who stop to watch the animal mean nothing to him as he rarely looks out of his box.

SING SATURDAY

Annual 'Stiftungs' to Be Held at Germania Hall.

The tenth annual 'Stiftungs" or songfest of the Women's chorus of the Mansfield Liederkrantz will be held at 8 p. m. Saturday at Germania hall. It will be open to the public.

Miss Elizabeth Dekrell serves as accompanist for the chorus, which is now under the direction of Ferdinand Schwaner, brother of the founder. A dance will follow the concert.

On Nov. 24 the Liederkrantz will present a play, "Hofemann's Toechter," at Germania hall, now in rehearsal under the direction of Paul Wolf.

RITES SATURDAY FOR DR. KOLLER

Last rites of the Lutheran church will be read at 2 p. m. Saturday at Baltimore, Md., for Dr. Paul W. Koller, 65, a former pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran congregation here and executive secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the church. Burial will be in Hanover, Pa.

Dr. Koller died at his home in Baltimire yesterday after an illness of one week. Born in Glen Rock, Pa., in 1872, he was educated at the Lutheran college and Theological seminary at Gettysburg, Pa. Dr. Koller served as pastor of St. Luke's church for nine years, leaving in 1921 to become the first full-time president of the Ohio Lutheran synod.

FIND BONDS IN HOME OF SLAIN WOMAN WHO LIVED AS INDIGENT

CHICAGO —(U.P.)— The hidden wealth of a 67-year-old divorcee, who lived in abject poverty while subsisting on relief, was revealed today as police investigated her brutal torture-murder.

The woman, Mrs. Bertha De Meyer, whose semi-nude body was found in her shabby home late yesterday, apparently had been tortured and beaten by robbers in an effort to make her give up her money. She was strangled with a wire.

Police found hidden in the five-room apartment, money and bonds amounting to more than $2,500, which the killer had missed in ransacking the place.

Three real estate bonds worth $1,500 were stuffed in cushion of a chair. A $1,000 mortgage was found among papers spread beneath a rug. In a bank book, hidden under a sofa, was $140. The book showed a balance of $352. Six dollars was found in the bottom of an old ice box.

Mrs. De Meyer had been divorced twice, the last time from Gustave De Meyer in 1928. She had been on relief since then.

The murder was discovered by Walter Krukow, a coal dealer with offices in the same building, who investigated when he found the rear door of Mrs. De Meyer's apartment open.

The place was a shambles. The killer had strewn contents of dresser drawers and slashed open a mattress in his search.

Mrs. De Meyer's body was to be examined today to determine whether she had been criminally attacked.

USE LASSOES

Youths Rob Woman Of 90 Cents With 'Wild West' Method.

CINCINNATI—(U.P.)—Wild west methods were used in a holdup here last night.

Two youths lassoed Mrs. Anna Cadee, 64, as she walked along a street. The noose dropped over her shoulders, knocking off her hat. She was pulled to the ground and the boys, about 12 and 14 years old, robbed her of her purse containing 90 cents.

MERGER NEARER

Methodist Denominations Are Approaching Union.

FORT WAYNE, Ind.—(AP)—Unification of three Methodist denominations having approximately 8,000,000 members in all parts of the world was two-thirds complete today.

Only final approval of the Methodist Episcopal church (South) remained after bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church (North) accepted the merger plans officially here last night.

The Methodist Protestant church already had voted for unification.

The new unified church, to be known as the Methodist church, will have five geographical jurisdictions. A sixth jurisdiction will include colored churches and conferences.

SPUR DRIVE TO SHRINK TAXES

Dem and Republican Senators Hold For Modification of Levy on Unsplit Profits.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Statements from Democratic and Republican senators gave new impetus today to a growing campaign to reduce business taxes.

From Chairman Harrison (D., Miss.) of the senate finance committee came the unqualified assertion that "there must be some modification of the undistributed profits tax."

Harrison, telegraphing this statement to Secretary Morgenthau from his home late yesterday, added that the administration should endeavor "to restore confidence to business."

Other legislators spoke in the same vein, praising Morgenthau's stand for balancing the budget through retrenchment, but private comments of some congressmen indicated they were not enthusiastic about trimming expenditures a few months before they are up for re-election.

Morgenthau had said in a speech Wednesday that some of the taxes which have inspired objections from business and the public might be ended if expenses were cut.

The recurrent question of tax-exempt securities came before a house tax sub-committee. One proposal would raise taxes on persons holding such bonds by including the income therefrom in the tax base.

SEEKS TO SPUR U. S. BUILDING

FHA Increases Dividends on Mortgage Insurance.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The federal housing administration held out the prospect of larger earnings today to induce private capital to build thousands of new homes.

The FHA, first agency to respond to the efforts of President Roosevelt to stimulate private construction, increased from 6 to 8 per cent the maximum dividends permitted corporations which get federal insurance on mortgages financing large-scale projects.

Stewart McDonald, FHA administrator, said he believed this and other changes now decided on would result in "millions of dollars worth of new construction."

INJURIES FATAL

Fall From Ladder Costs Life of Former Mansfield Man.

Funeral services were held yesterday in Delano, Cal., for Charles Carlisle, 76, a former Mansfield resident who died in a hospital at Bakersfield, Cal., following a fall from a ladder on Nov. 6 in which he suffered a broken neck.

Mr. Carlisle lived in Mansfield until 1912 when he moved to California. Surviving are two daughters, Bertha and Glee, both of Los Angeles; two sons, Gaylord of Oregon and Harry of Ashland, and a sister, Mrs. Emma Richey of Mansfield.

RETIRED PASTOR BEATEN, G-MEN ENTER INQUIRY

Former Missionary, 79, Found Near Cave In Virginia Hill Country.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va —(AP)— A 79-year-old dry leader and former missionary, found after being missing 11 days, recuperated from exhaustion and bruises in a hospital today while federal agents pressed an investigation into his disappearance.

The one-time head of the West Virginia Anti-Saloon league, Dr. James I. Seder, was found near a cave in a lonely wooded section 25 miles from Huntington yesterday by a farmer who heard him groaning.

Dr. Glenn Johnson of nearby Wayne gave emergency treatment and said both of Seder's eyes had been blackened, apparently by a blow.

Tells Kidnap Story.

Albert Ronk, who found the retired Evangelical minister, said Dr. Seder told him he had been kidnaped and held captive but R. E. Vetterly of the federal bureau of investigation, declined to discuss a kidnap theory.

At the time Dr. Seder disappeared, Dr. Edward F. Reaser, psychiatrist of the Huntington State hospital said he believed that the retired minister might have been suffering from a pychosis which sent him into hiding.

William Seder, a son and officer of the Bethlehem Steel corporation in Pittsburgh, said he was "not at liberty" to say whether he believed his father had been kidnaped or whether ransom had been demanded or paid. Willard and another son, Arthur Seder of St. Paul, came to Huntington to direct the search for their father.

In Dr. Johnson's office, Dr. Seder exclaimed:

"It is like heaven to be here. The rain — it seemed like days and there were sharp stones as I groped around trying to get out."

Blodo-stained bedclothing lay in a cave near the spot where Dr. Seder was found and the Huntington Herald-Dispatch said it had learned it was from the Seder home in Huntington.

Hospital attendants said Dr. Seder's condition was fair.

SCORES DEAD

Philippines Start Count of Typhoon Victims.

MANILA —(AP)— Scores were reported dead on typhoon-ravaged Luzon island today in the wake of wind and rain which swept a path 200 miles long across seven provinces yesterday.

Nine were known dead in Manila and 20 missing. Twenty-six others were reported swept away by the raging Marikina river in Rizal province.

First advices from outlying provinces, handicapped by disrupted communications, told of tens of thousands homeless, scores injured and many missing. Property damage was extensive.

Giant waves dashed 14 heavy cargo lighters upon the rocks in Manila bay and periled other shipping.

SPURNS BUREAU FOR LOVELORN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The interior department spurned today a New Yorker's proposal to set up a clearance bureau for the nation's lovelorn.

"Why shouldn't the government conduct one?" asked a letter to the department. "Don't you realize nothing could be more worthy?

The officials didn't. They passed the buck to Capitol Hill.

"You are aware," they answered, "that the Department of the Interior could not set up such a correspondence bureau, as suggested without the authority of congress."

CUTS DISCOUNT

Bank of France Lowers Rate From 3½ to 3 Per Cent.

PARIS — (AP) — The Bank of France today lowered the discount rate from three and one-half to three per cent.

The change followed reports that gold is returning in large quantities to the bank's vaults. Advances on securities were brought down from four and one-half to four per cent and on 30-day advances from three and one-half to three.

The Great Game of Politics

—By FRANK R. KENT

Mr. Kennedy on Confusion.

IN THE extraordinarily clear and candid report of Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy, of the maritime commission, one point is made which appears to have escaped comment. And yet it happens to emphasize the chief indictment made against this administration almost from the start and dwells upon what many consider its most alarming symptom—to wit, the almost incredible confusion.

"ALTHOUGH," writes Mr. Kennedy, "the Maritime commission is charged with responsibility for the development of an adequate merchant marine, many other agencies exercise some jurisdiction over maritime affairs. A preliminary survey reveals not less than 50 bureaus which exercise some control over shipping. This diffusion of authority means costly duplication of effort, divided responsibility, inter-departmental rivalries and lessened efficiency. The greatest duplication occurs between the Maritime commission and the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation. It would seem desirable that many of the functions of these agencies should be continued."

THE SIGNIFICANCE of this restrained statement does not lie so much in the facts, striking as they are, as in their recital, not by a critic of the administration, but by a member of it, who happens also to be a close friend of the president. If there is any other member of the administration or any other friend of the president's who has made, or would make, an assertion of this kind, so concretely supporting the charges of those who see the chaos in Washington with clear eyes, no one seems to know him. In this respect, Mr. Kennedy is unique. Mr Roosevelt does not have friends—and Mr. Roosevelt does not care for people in his administration—who dwell upon the weaknesses of the New Deal or agree in any respect with his critics.

MR KENNEDY is the shining exception, because he has retained his independence, gives vastly more than he gets and hasn't the remotest intention of remaining in the Roosevelt family. If he had, he wouldn't—unless he changed his tune. There are times, indeed, when Mr. Kennedy has no difficulty in restraining his personal admiration and some difficulty in sticking it out at all. Maybe that's as good a reason as any for calling him "The Miracle Man." At any rate, it keeps him in position to say no while others of the so-called White House "inner circle" are intoning yes. It would be a good thing for Mr. Roosevelt, personally, and a good thing for the country if there were a few more Kennedys in executive positions in Washington, but there are none—and the reason is because the present head of the government revolts against candor and cannot digest facts. As a result, he gets very little of the former and very few of the latter, unless heavily sugared and well diluted.

CONCEDING that in the maritime matter some of the overlapping existed before Mr. Roosevelt came in, it is none the less true it has been greatly increased under him, and it isn't a patch on the confusion which exists in other departments as a result of the multitudinous and conflicting New Deal agencies and activities created since 1933. If Mr. Kennedy could be induced to extend his survey to other parts of the government he would find a condition that makes the "costly duplication of effort, departmental rivalries and divided responsibility" upon which he comments in maritime affairs, appear simple, orderly and efficient.

SOME OF IT is literally unbelievable. And yet the president has resisted every effort to abolish, co-ordinate or consolidate these clashing bureaus, commissions and authorities. Finally, and quite obviously for the purpose of blanketing the efforts of Senator Byrd, of Virginia, who, because of his fight for economy and disposition to present unpalatable facts, has become thoroughly disliked at the White House, the president was driven to the appointment of a departmental reorganization commission. The bill it sponsored and behind which Mr. Roosevelt put himself last session did not propose any economies and abolished no agencies—just regrouped them.

IN ADDITION it planned so great an enhancement of the powers of the president and so complete a centralization of authority in his hands as to cause some of his strongest adherents to react against it. As a result, the bill was torn to pieces in committee and did not emerge therefrom. Since then the confusion has increased, instead of lessening; more jobholders have been put on the pay roll instead of many being sloughed off. In the coming session Senator Byrd will renew his fight to cure every department of the paralyzing disease which Mr. Kennedy points out as afflicting the governmental handling of maritime affairs, and which is piling up the outrageous and indefensible costs of government. But, will he have White House support in that effort? He will not. And will that part of Mr. Kennedy's report relating to duplication be put into effect by the president? It will not. It has been made perfectly clear that voluntary action of that sort is not to be expected from the present-day Roosevelt.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—A movie gag man must be brazen and shameless, and have a hide thick as an elephant's. Otherwise—in a gag conference—he'll blush and be confused and lose the opportunity to contribute something that might possibly be funny.

Sat in on a gag session for the new Laurel and Hardy feature. It's about a couple of guys with a better mousetrap, many better mousetraps. The traps are ingenious, nutty, and Rube Goldbergish, each designed to exterminate a mouse humanely.

The session, when it gets under way finally after a general informal discussion of who wrote which music in what musical comedy 20 or 30 years ago, with side bets on the matter, is called to order—if any—by Stan Laurel. He comes in, settles down at his desk, and puts his feet up. Oliver Hardy is absent, and this—now I know it—is why he's the fat one. He hasn't anything to do with gag sessions.

* * *

Stan is neatly dressed in grey business suit: Felix Adler, over the davenport, is coatless. Pretty soon he has loosened up his tie, too. Jimmy Parrott sits in a corner. Charlie Rogers, who's been with Stan since his old days with the Fred Karno troupe (Chaplin was in it then too) paces around coatless, in a vivid red shirt. Art DuQuette, the script clerk, hovers nearby silently, waiting to "make a note" if anything's said that Stan thinks is worth noting.

Felix Adler is telling a yarn about his neighbor's kid when Stan, without ado, replies cryptically: "We gotta get rid of the car," and then most of the faces present drop. (This is business, boys.)

Follows some discussion of ways and means of getting rid of the car, but they don't decide anything. They've got to get names for those mousetraps. "Something cute, that'll fit into a song, and yet not give away the gag in the trap," specifies Stan.

Out of the silence comes a suggestion. It's terrible. Another that brings a smile to Laurel's face. Still another that brings a laugh.

* * *

Felix Adler makes a pun, so terrible that he and all the rest break out laughing. "That's so lousy I have to laugh at it myself," he says.

It's true — they don't. Adler makes more "tries" than anybody. He gives his gag and then laughs, ha-ha. The first ha is loud and strong. If nobody else laughs, the second ha is hollow and sour, dying in his throat. But trying oftener, he gets (I think) a better batting average in the end.

"It ghosts to show you," contributes someone. Laughter breaks into the general gloom. Anything ghosts here—they've got me doing it now.

STUDY CLUB WOMEN HEAR FEDERAL AGENTS

AN UNUSUAL program on which two federal operators gave informative and enlightening talks on their division of law enforcement, was presented Thursday afternoon to members of the Wednesday Study club, when that group met with Mrs. Ephraim Brown, Woodland.

Ralph H. Oyler, district supervisor of the Bureau of Narcotics for Ohio and Michigan, and formerly in charge of the New York and Chicago districts, gave a talk and demonstration on narcotics. William Harper, of the counterfeiting division of the United States secret service, told some interesting stories of his work and displayed several hundred dollars in counterfeit bills and coins.

The speakers were presented by Mrs. C. F. Routzahn, who was on the program to present a picture of the narcotics trade in America.

Mr. Oyler, who has been with the bureau for 22 years has been on most of the important investigations of smuggling and narcotic sales, and made the first arrest under the Harrison Narcotic bill 22 years ago, and the first under the Marijuana Tax act which was passed Oct. 1, of this year.

He displayed "trophies" taken in raids and showed how they were used. He traced the development of opium from the time the Chinese farmers harvest their crop of poppies, through its manufacture, smuggled entrance into the United States, and final consumption by addicts.

The most interesting phase of his talk, however, because of its timeliness, was on marijuana. He displayed a cultivated stalk of hemp, from which the deadly marijuana is made and rolled cigarets of the type that are being sold unlawfully to young people and school children.

* * *

Mr. Oyler said that while the marijuana habit was much more easily broken, if taken in early stages, than the opium or cocaine habit, it was more insidious and vicious in its effects. The average ages of addicts range between 18 and 21, although many younger persons are smoking it.

It's direct effect, he said, is to make the smoker hilarious, an emotion which later changes to aggressiveness and frequently leads to murder and other vicious crimes. It directly effects sex emotions, he said and many of the present sex crimes are traced to marijuana smokers. If smoked over a period of a few years, he said, it almost invariably leads to insanity.

Mr. Harper told of how clever and skilled engravers can produce paper money so well done that it passes through many bank hands before it finally is detected at the Federal Reserve banks where all currency is inspected by government experts. He produced a $100 bill, which, he said, could be passed on almost any city bank. An interesting story was that of a Chicago counterfeiter who could and did make half dollars that were identical with Uncle Sam's—and just as valuable as to their silver content. He also told several stories of guarding the lives of the presidents, a duty to which he is frequently assigned.

Five guests of the club, who were received by Mrs. Brown, were Mrs. W. A. Bowers, Mrs Charles Dickey, Mrs. Joseph Montgomery, Mrs Robert R. Black jr., and Mrs E C Thompson.

Thoughtless Relatives Upset Wife

By VIRGINIA LEE

I HAVEN'T very recently had any letters from folk who can't get along with in-laws, so thought that question maybe was pretty well settled.

However, DISGUSTED HARRIETT writes of her husband's relatives who are unkind to her, although they come to her when they need help with work of various kinds. They never ask her to go anywhere with them, and they never come to her home. One sister even called her a name, but Harriett didn't fight with her even then.

Harriett and her husband get along beautifully, but she seems to expect him to do something about his family's attitude toward her. They all live in a small town, so Harriett feels the slights of her husband's people, having no relatives of her own near by.

Her query is, should she go to see them or have anything to do with them? Even when she isn't well they do not come near her.

Your case is one of thousands, Harriet. Your husband is an only son so his family thinks no girl is good enough for him, and are jealous of you, his wife. It is too bad and they cheat themselves out of a lot of pleasure by such an attitude.

I don't know just what your husband can do about it. It would not help if he quarreled with his family because of you. It would only make them dislike you more.

The only way to handle such a situation is to ignore it and be happy with your husband and your friends. Any situation that you cannot better must be accepted and made the best of, you see.

If you don't expect your mother-in-law or sister-in-law to ask you to go with them or to come to your house, you won't be hurt when they don't. Don't let it prevent you from doing nice things for them when you can.

The main thing is that you are happy with your husband, so dwell on that and make him happy. The in-laws may come round in time and take you in. As you are lonely for some one belonging to you, make friends and let them substitute for relatives. Many times warm friends are closer to us than our relatives—kinder and more understanding and sympathetic.

Questions About Dining Invitations

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just accepted an invitation to dine at the house of a new friend who is taking her dinner party to the summer stock theatre afterwards. I live only two blocks away from her house and can easily walk to dinner, but I'm a little worried as to what arrangement I am expected to make for getting to the theatre, which is five miles out of town.

Answer: You will not be expected to make any arrangement further than to arrive at the house of your hostess at the hour of dinner. The fact tha she has invited you to dine and go with her to the theatre afterwards makes it her obligation to see that all her dinner guests have, or are provided with, the means of getting to the theatre and to their home afterwards. She will either take you in her own car, or arrange beforehand to have you and any other guests who have no cars go with those who have.

Dear Mrs. Post: Please settle the question of whether it is proper or not for a group of let's say fifteen women alone to gather at a hotel, having engaged a private dining room, in evening dress? It seems utterly ridiculous to me for any one to say that it was not proper, yet each and every time I try to promote a dinner of this type, some of the members think that the absence of men does not permit our wearing evening clothes. Why in the world would men have anything to do with the type of clothes we may choose?

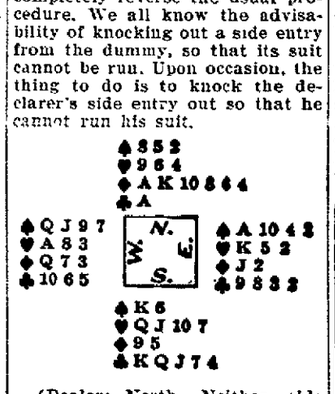
Answer: I don't know how people feel in other communities, but in New York, for example, dinners of women alone are in every particular—table setting, food, and women's dresses—exactly the same whether men are present or not.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay
"The Authority on Authorities"

REVERSING THE PROCEDURE

BRIDGE IS a funny game. It has in it many spots in which you completely reverse the usual procedure. We all know the advisability of knocking out a side entry from the dummy, so that its suit cannot be run. Upon occasion, the thing to do is to knock the declarer's side entry out so that he cannot run his suit.



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

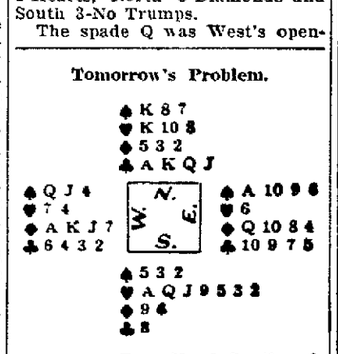
Here North started the bidding with 1-Diamond, South called 2-Clubs, North 2-Diamonds, South 2-Hearts, North 3-Diamonds and South 3-No Trumps.

The spade Q was West's opening lead and East, without giving any thought to the matter, jumped in with the Spade A in order to immediately knock out the club A in dummy to prevent the run of the diamond suit.

That play gave South the contract, for it cleared the way for him to run his own club suit while still retaining an entry into his hand with the spade K. After cashing the club A, the declarer led a low diamond, which West won with the Q. Another spade lead put South in to run four club tricks and five diamond tricks, making 11 tricks.

The East player regretted his haste in returning a club the moment he had done so. Figuring that South held two diamonds, the most West could have held was three, so that all South had to do was to duck one round of diamonds and the suit would have been clear. Had the first trick been won by South with the K of spades, three spades, one diamond and two hearts would have been won by the opponents.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

What is the correct defense against South's 4-Hearts contract after the lead of the diamond K?

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

At Dicky's ultimatum there was so quick a change in the face of the man peering through our kitchen door that I almost cried out in sheer panic at the malevolence of the look he gave Dicky.

"Smart birds like you have had their wings clipped before now," he snarled. As he spoke, he lifted his hand and threw something glittering in an arch over Dicky's head which came to rest with its sharp point imbedded in the floor at my feet. Dicky slammed the door shut the next instant, shot the bolt and rushed over to me.

"Did it strike you?" he asked tensely.

"No." I pointed with shaking fingers to the floor, where the dagger, held fast by its point, had a strip of paper twisted around it.

Find Note Sealed.

"Thank God!" Dicky ejaculated fervently. "But what do you suppose we're in for now?"

"I don't know," I answered, "but I'm sure of one thing. The man didn't mean to hit either of us with the dagger. He carefully aimed it so that it went over your head and curved to the floor. I saw that."

"That may be," Dicky said obstinately. "But he's a bad actor, that lad. Well, I suppose we might as well take a look at this. If the note isn't sealed, what d'ye say we give it the once over, to see if it's worth while disturbing the chief to give it to him."

"But you said to the man that you wouldn't disturb Father under any circumstances," I babbled banally.

"I say a great many things beside prayers," Dicky retorted. Then he plucked the dagger from the floor, and untwisted the paper from the handle.

"It is a sealed note," he said. "What do you think?"

"I think we ought to take it straight to Father," I said. "He may not be asleep yet. If he is, he would want us to waken him for this, I am sure."

Take It to Chief.

"You're probably right," he said, as he turned out the light again, and drew me toward the hall in which we keep a light burning all night. Then we went softly up the stairs that we might not disturb my mother-in-law, and across the second floor to the wing which my father has reserved for himself.

His light streamed out from beneath the door, and at Dicky's knock, he opened it, his face betraying no surprise, but his eyes asking a question.

Describes Him.

"Sorry to disturb you, sir," Dicky said, apologetically, "but a man came to the door just now demanding that this note be given to you."

My father took the note in his hands, but did not open it.

Dicky described in detail the appearance of the man who had brought the message, and my father shook his head as he finished.

"I don't think I have ever seen him," he said, and Dicky nodded.

"He didn't sound as if he'd ever seen you," he said, "but he was insolent as the devil. I'd like to have blacked both his eyes for him."

"You may have the chance some day," my father said with a smile. "And now, if you'll excuse me—"

He tore open the note, and read it, then gave a low ejaculation.

"See what you make of that," he said, extending the paper to us.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, November 13.

This is a day in which the secret, subtle and probably undercurrent influences dominate the situation, according to the mutual and lunar aspects. With vigilance and wariness as to this behind-the-scenes "wire-pulling," great progress may be made in political or diplomatic circles in connection with rings, mergers, secret orders or other undercover organizations. Promotion, favors and power may come through intrigue, collusion or secret agreements, but such subtleties work both ways calling for discretion. Beware of snares.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year in which intrigue, secrecy, craft, collusion or other undercover factors hold sway. Discreetly managed, this combination may bring advancement, favors, prestige and position, but in all beware of entangling alliances that might rebound.

A child born on this day may have a nature springing from subtle and mysterious endowments. In one way it may be spiritual and mystical, in another given to stratagem, conspiracy, craft. It may attain high position, and attract others by a seductive, intriguing and winsome personality.

Edward Braddock, British general, led an expedition against Fort DuQuesne in the French and Indian war in 1755. He was mortally wounded and died shortly afterwards.

NOW—CLOTHES 4 TO 5 SHADES WHITER
Yet With Positive Safety To Washable Colors, Hands

● Stop blaming that old washing machine because your clothes come out dingy and gray! For now there is an astonishing new laundry soap that literally "works miracles" in washers, both old and new!

By simply switching to it, you'll see white clothes come 4 to 5 shades whiter—in 25% to 40% less time. And you'll agree with the thousands of women who say results make it seem "like getting a new washer free!"

This amazing soap—OXYDOL—was developed by the makers of gentle Ivory soap . . . and works on an utterly new principle. It soaks out dirt while the washer is running—you get double action wash! You save wear and tear on clothes, cut electricity bills—because you don't run the washer so long.

In tub washing, OXYDOL saves back-breaking scrubbing and boiling. You soak clothes just 15 minutes to the tubful, and white clothes wash 4 to 5 shades whiter than with less modern soaps. Even "grimiest" spots come white with a few quick rubs.

Yet OXYDOL is so safe that every washable color comes out brilliant, fresh! Even sheer cotton prints washed 100 consecutive times in OXYDOL suds, showed no perceptible sign of fading.

OXYDOL is economical, too. Tests against popular package soaps show that, cup for cup, and under identical washing conditions, OXYDOL gives 28% to 60% MORE SUDS! Get OXYDOL from your dealer today. Procter & Gamble.

THE STATE vs. ELNA JEPSON

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

(Copyright 1937)

CHAPTER XIII.

Elna was glad of an excuse to return to the oven for Holly's duck. The three of them were still seated at the oilcloth-covered table as she rejoined them. "You are lucky not to be married, Miss Jepson," Holly said.

"Maybe so," Elna agreed guardedly. "Perhaps nobody wants me," she said with a smile. "But why the luck?" I am being catty, she thought. This is what Holly is doing to me. She is making me catty.

"You don't know what wives have to stand for. It takes more than brains to be a wife." Holly's bitter glance flashed to Roger, but he was busy with his duck.

"Do you know what he does, Miss Jepson?" Holly's voice was high and strained. "He makes me think I haven't any brains, but he always leaves a ring around the bathtub for me to clean."

* * *

Elna's fingers teased around her glass. She could have thrown it in Holly's face. Then she looked at Roger. His features were immobile. Her eyes turned to Holly with unexpected pity. Holly's face was rent and tortured. She loves him, and she hurts him, and she cannot reach him—he is beyond her darts, poor thing, she thought.

"I don't mind washing out bathtubs," she said calmly. "I wash my own, you know."

"You—you don't know—"

"Quite. I didn't know that, at least, until you just now called it to my attention," said Roger.

"Too-to-too, too-to-do!" He sang the opening measures of the "Star Spangled Banner." "Thank goodness I haven't a wife to see what my tub looks like!"

With his buffoonery, Elna saw Roger's face imperceptibly relax. Curtis flashed her a wink. She took up her own knife and joined the chorus, drumming.

"Sorry, but we're like that," she said. "Don't mind. Mr. Graham's guest is now going to wash the dishes."

* * *

For almost ten minutes the only perceptible sound in the room had been one that intensified its peace—the faint hissing of the sap from the logs burning in the fireplace. Elna was ostensibly reading, but the pages turned with telltale slowness. From time to time her eyes lifted to scan the face of Roger, who leaned back in the easy chair, his eyes closed. His strong dark hands drooped with fatigue along the arms of the chair.

A sudden movement dislodged her book from her lap and sent it bumping to the floor. The sound roused Roger from his half-doze. He leaned forward to retrieve the book, then turned to her with a smile.

"This is good," he said. "What other girl in the world would let a caller go to sleep in her society like that?"

"I liked it." Elna answered mockingly. "Excuse the left-handed compliment. Had dinner?" she added. "I've some cracked crab and mayonnaise and romaine in the icebox left over from my own dinner. Like some?"

"Crab? My favorite," he said, smiling.

As she arranged her tray in the kitchen, Elna frowned, wondering if his smile had been forced, if some case at the office were seriously troubling. But her face cleared as she crooked a half-gallon glass jug in the hollow of her elbow and watched the pale topaz of sauterne flow into a glass. On a sudden impulse, she added a second glass to the tray.

* * *

Their glasses were lifted, rims tinkling lightly. "I couldn't really invent an adequate toast for you, my dear," Roger said. "This is the only place I know in this God-forsaken world where there is peace and cheer and friendship—and no possessiveness. It's a wonderful proof of the idiocy of the idea that a man and woman cannot value each other's personalities without entangling alliances."

"I'm only doing what I want to do," Elna said gravely.

"Tell you how it is." Roger said after a long pause. "All this wouldn't be understood by many people. You're the exception."

"Thank you, sir," Elna bowed. "You know I haven't talked much about Mrs. Ainsworth." Roger's eyes glanced upward, almost pleading. "I haven't needed to, have I?"

"Caddish—not cricket — all that?" Elna helped him out, but her hands grew suddenly cold. "Trouble?" She let the word drop without expression.

"Plenty," Roger said. "You know how things have been with us—but would any one else believe it?"

* * *

The coldness spread from Elna's hands to her whole body. Then confidence spread through her like the warmth of sunshine. Roger was telling her, proving his loyalty to their friendship in that very act.

"Maya't you be making a mountain out of a molehill—just to give you a little cliche?" she suggested, sipping her wine. "Besides, what can it possibly matter what other people believe, so long as we know—we ourselves?"

"You incorrigible little romantic!" The strain momentarily lifted from Roger's face as he leaned forward to pat her gently on the cheek.

"I have reason to be," Elna answered soberly. "I would trust you for everything — forever. Now, what's the matter?"

"It's like this." Roger, as always, was controlled. "Holly has made life hell for me — I mean disagreeable." He rejected the terms of melodrama. "She is now making it more disagreeable. I told you some time ago that nothing in my house was my own, that every moment there was filled with nagging. I know she hates me. After all that, why should she be jealous? Now she wants to get me back apparently."

"Yet," Elna said softly, "you must have loved her once. Perhaps she is unhappy."

"Unhappy, hell!" Roger flung his cigaret into the fire with a furious gesture. "She's been trying to wreck me. She's been trailing me. She is jealous of someone — doubtless you. She didn't want me until she thought someone else might."

"Me?" The monosyllable was barely breathed. "Why me?"

"Perhaps I am mistaken. You remember when your infant friend Curtis Graham traced my car here and found us?"

Elna's sturdy little chin lifted. "He meant no harm. He is no spy. It was an accident," she said coldly.

"Oh, I know that. He's all right," Roger said calmly. "But since that time I have always parked my car in the garage around the corner. She could wreck us both if she found it parked outside."

"I'm sorry. You couldn't have liked that, though I still don't see it in terms of wreckage. Anything else?"

"Yes!" Roger exploded. "She's taken to calling at my office at odd hours—until I told her that scenes would reduce our income. She could understand that."

"What a woman! And yet," she repeated under her breath, "she must have loved you once."

"Can you understand jealousy without love? Anyway, Holly's got it. Thanks for the dinner. I went home. Things were pretty beastly. I walked out." Roger's short sentences were harsh and sharp. "I can't let her go on like that. It bothers my work, for one thing."

"I should think it well might," Elna agreed judiciously.

"I couldn't eat, and marched out, telling her that I had to work at the office. That's why I'm so grateful for the food. I can eat with you."

"Thank you. I'm glad I had something on hand," Elna said.

"But listen to this," Roger continued sternly. "I went to the office, turned the lights on, and then went out, locking the door behind me, to come here, to escape Holly. I wouldn't put it past her to check up on me."

* * *

At last came the smile she had waited for. "I don't specialize in being afraid, do I?" Roger's dark eyes glimmered with humor and confidence. "I'd like to kill her, though." Laughter robbed the words of any sinister significance. "You don't know how you've bucked me up."

The buzzer sounded.

For a moment both faces turned blank with astonishment. Roger's poker clattered to the floor. He stooped carefully and swung it between his knees. Elna did not move. Watching him, she saw surprise swiftly change to annoyance, then to the wary alertness she had sometimes seen on his face when he talked of the strategy of his cases. Suddenly she loathed the secrecy of their friendship—so unnecessary a secrecy it seemed in its reality.

"Could that be your young friend Graham?" He turned to her with a kindly smile. "It isn't that I mean to sound harsh, but there isn't much time to figure this out."

"No, it wouldn't be Curtis," Elna answered promptly. "I told him that visits from him would be unwelcome. That would be enough for him. We haven't been anywhere together for months. The last time I saw him, just a hello chat on the street, I casually intimated that I had moved."

"No. I—even opened a bank account under another name so as to pay my rent by check. I use that name for the telephone, laundry and things like that. The management here has changed, and the syndicate that owns the place accepts me as this other person."

"Smart girl." Roger said approvingly. There was a pause. "I've been thinking," he said. "I left my car outside the office tonight, since I'd told Holly I was going there. I walked over here. It's for your sake as well as mine, you know. She's done everything she could to humiliate me—"

Start Unemployed Census In Mansfield Area Tuesday

POSTAL CREWS DELIVER CARDS TO ALL HOMES

City's Force of 72 to Carry Report Blanks, Aid Jobless In Filling Them Out.

Mansfield's 72 rural and city mail carriers will start out Tuesday to deliver 16,000 unemployment report cards in connection with the federal government's efforts to conduct a census of the nation's unemployed.

Arrangements for the census here were being completed today by Postmaster H. E. Homberger and the Mansfield postoffice staff.

Cards are to be distributed to all dwellings. All postal employes will endeavor to answer inquiries concerning the census and will, on request, give assistance in filling out the report card, Homberger has announced.

Nov. 20 Deadline.

Unemployed or part time workers are the only ones requested to sign and mail the already addressed cards. They must be mailed by midnight of Nov. 20. Those sent after that time will not be counted.

Meanwhile Washington postal authorities estimated that 80,000 carriers will be engaged in delivering the cards over the country, visiting mansions, hovels, hobo jungles and even trailer camps in an effort to obtain an accurate census.

Twice before in recent years, postal carriers have literally "tracked down" millions of people. Once was in the social security registration, and before that in the bonus registration.

They are to call on 31,000,000 homes, leaving in each mail box an unemployment census questionnaire to be answered voluntarily.

Each questionnaire will bear a special message from President Roosevelt, exhorting co-operation of the unemployed and partly unemployed.

"If you give me the facts I shall try to use them for the benefit of all who need and want work and do not now have it," the President pledged.

Costs $5,000,000.

Congress ordered the census as a blueprint of the nation's employment condition, and provided $5,000,000 to complete the work.

John D. Biggers, president of the Toledo Libby-Owens-Ford Glass Co., whom the President named to direct the census, announced he would keep the cost within that figure, and have the results completely tabulated by the time Congress meets in regular session.

The American Federation of Labor unemployment statistics have set the unemployed in the neighborhood of 8,500,000 persons.

Biggers said the census would give the President and Congress the first factual, nationwide picture of unemployment and part time unemployment. What is to be done after the picture is obtained is for them to decide, he said.

No Previous Check.

It was pointed out that the nation's gigantic relief program has hitherto been carried out without such a comprehensive picture of unemployment.

Biggers said he hoped to "catch even hoboes, if they light anywhere during the census day."

Co-operation of state governments, municipal officials, and more than 70,000 local units of national organizations have been enlisted to aid in the drive.

An intensive "educational" campaign was carried out by radio, posters, newsreels and other media to make the nation "unemployed conscious" and obtain a maximum of registration.

Amish In Pennsy Want School Age Limit Left At 14

HARRISBURG, Pa. — (AP) — Bearded and black-frocked Aaron Beiler brought a request from the Amish farmers of southeastern Pennsylvania that Amish children be exempted from certain age requirements of the state's new school code.

Officials in the department of public instruction said the new code, effective January 1, would permit exemption for farm hands after they are 15 years old. The exemption at present is 14 years.

The Amish, he said, were strongly in favor of education, but considered education beyond the 14-year limit a matter of "worldly wisdom" and a challenge to their religious beliefs.

The governor's office turned the request over to the attorney general.

FAIR HALF WET AND HALF DRY

Fairgrounds Divided by Local Option Vote in Maine.

RUMFORD, Me.—(UP)—It was a half wet, half dry day at Oxford County Fair.

The town line divides the fair grounds, half in Paris and half in Norway.

On the beer question at the last election, Paris voted "dry" but Norway went "wet." A well-patronized "oasis" was located under the Norway grandstand.

RATTLER ERRS IN ROLE AS PET

'Pet' of Forest Rangers Until Stranger Finds Him.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—(U.P.)—Friendliness of a rattlesnake at a Ouachita National Forest lookout near here resulted in its death.

The snake, named "Old Spot" by the forestry lookouts, had loitered near the tower atop Oak mountain for two years, "chumming" with the observers. In the cool of the day the snake could be found at the foot of the tower, waiting for his human companions to come down and "play with him."

Recently a new helper who was not so familiar with the snake's ways was assigned to the tower. The helper was hanging up clothing one morning when "Old Spot" crawled up the hill. The reptile was playful, but the lookout thought the snake meant business.

"Old Spot" got too close. Now he won't come back for any more games.

$904 SPENT BY LEGION UNIT IN WELFARE WORK

Auxiliary's Report For Year Shows 45 Families With 115 Children Aided.

The American Legion auxiliary of the Earle McVey post spent $904 during the past year in welfare and relief work, helping 45 families which included 115 children, according to the organization's annual financial report.

Gold Star mothers figured in the smallest and largest items of expense in the 27 listed in the report, with 45 cents spent for cards to the mothers and $125 for nursing care for a mother.

In its service to children of veterans, the auxiliary spent $77 during the year for 772 quarts of milk and $112 for 50 pairs of shoes. Also listed was $59 for children's clothing, and $42 for a housekeeper's services for an ex-service man and his family.

Other Contributions.

Other contributions by the auxiliary for the year included $45 to the adopted ward at the Dayton veterans' hospital, $70 to the relief fund for flood sufferers in southern Ohio last winter, $5 to the Community Fund and $46 to the department rehabilitation fund.

Other major expense items were $97 for groceries for indigent families of veterans, $39 for bed clothing sent to Portsmouth families during the flood last winter, $15 for men's and women's clothing, and $19 for electric bills for indigent families.

The auxiliary, headed by Mrs. Eugene Flory, obtains funds largely from the annual sale of poppies just before Memorial day. Contributions from that source last spring totaled approximately $1,200, it was said.

Snake Tickles Sleeper And He Jumps Out of Bed.

ST. JOHNSVILLE, N. Y.—(U.P.)—Seward Smith felt something tickle his cheek while napping. Drowsily, he brushed his hand across his face. Again he felt the tickle. Opening his eyes, he saw a snake coiled beside him. Smith leaped out of bed. The snake followed. He killed the reptile by dropping a flatiron on its head.

High-heeled shoes are much more expensive to keep than low-heeled shoes. The heels have to be replacd more often.

ENGLISH BARONET TOILS IN STORE TO BUY BACK OLD HOME

LONDON— (INS) —Standing behind a stall in London's famous Caledonian Market is a baronet who hopes by this means to get enough money to buy back his ancestral home.

Selling china ornaments, grotesque masks and delicate pieces of glass, Sir John Stuart Knill has one ambition—to regain possession of Knill Court, Herefordshire, home of his ancestors.

His father and grandfather were both Lord Mayors of London.

Losing his fortune after the World war, Sir John ran an antique shop at Brighton, but finding it was losing money, he packed his goods and moved to Caledonian Market.

Arriving in London he found he had only $1.50.

He ransacked junk shops, spent a dollar on bargains and rented a stall in the market with the remaining fifty cents.

He sold the goods for five dollars and since then has never looked back.

When it was discovered a baronet was selling goods in the market, there was a rush to his stall, and consequently he now has a greatly increased trade.

His parents had plenty of money at one time, and Sir John used to spend his days collecting and examining antiques. Thus he was able to put his knowledge to good account when he started his stall.

He has opened a shop in Camden Town in which he keeps two thousand antiques.

GUARDS BIRDS

Cleveland Patrolman Has Task of Watching Sparrows.

CLEVELAND— (INS) —One patrolman in this city has the duty, self-imposed, of guarding the city hall sparrows. Patrolman Lace Floyd technically has the duty of protecting the automobiles parked in back of city hall, but a few weeks ago he started feeding parts of his lunch to the city hall sparrows. Now a flock of approximately 100 birds gathers around him each day to get lunch.

VILLAGE KEEPS CLERK 50 YEARS

Colored Man, 87, Has Written 110,000 Checks For More Than $2,500,000.

CADIZ, O.—(U.P.)—William H. Lucas, an 87-year-old colored resident, has been town clerk of this village of 3,000 for 56 years, and he "aims to keep right on being town clerk until I die."

The bent, white-haired clerk—keen of mind despite his age—claims a national record for years of service in public office.

He is so popular with the electorate that he hasn't even been opposed for the office for the last 25 years. Born in Virginia and a Republican, he has served under 15 Republican and four Democratic mayors.

"I've got a lot of white friends here," Lucas said, on his 87th birthday, just passed, "and they think it would be a fine thing if I could hold the office right up until I die. I realize I'm getting along in years now, and it probably won't be long before my time will come.

"I reckon they're satisfied with the way I run the office. The last time I had an opponent—that was 25 years ago—the vote count was about 3 to 1 in my favor.

"Any trouble doing my work? No, it never bothers me. Guess I've been at it so long I've got the hang of it about down pat. Why for 50 years I was a school teacher—principal of the colored school here—and held the clerkship at the same time."

During his tenure, Lucas has written more than 110,000 checks for a total of $2,500,000. He has no assistants.

COWS GO TO COLLEGE

Rams Battle Tonight to Remain In Unbeaten List

BARKER SELECTS CORNELL

By HERBERT W. BARKER

NEW YORK — (AP) — Newly-equipped with the latest type of shock absorbers, this corner bends a wary eye on the national football program and timidly ventures the following guesses for what they may be worth:

Pittsburgh over Nebraska; Notre Dame over Army; Minnesota over Northwestern; California over Oregon; Rice over Texas A. & M.; Alabama over Georgia Tech; Duke over North Carolina; Cornell over Dartmouth; Syracuse over Columbia; Yale over Princeton; Michigan over Penn; Penn State over Maryland; Boston College over Kentucky; Manhattan over North Carolina State; Holy Cross over Brown; Temple over Bucknell; Ohio State over Illinois; Indiana over Iowa; Wisconsin over Purdue; Michigan State over Carnegie; Kansas over Kansas State; Baylor over Southern Methodist; Texas Christian over Texas; Tulane over Georgia; Auburn over Louisiana State; Vanderbilt over Tennessee; Arkansas over Mississippi; South Carolina over Furman; Southern California over Oregon State; Stanford over Washington State; Washington over U. C. L. A.; Santa Clara over St. Mary's; Colorado over Colorado College.

Face Bellville In Mid-State League Tilt Under Lights.

THE POWERFUL Rams of Madison—one of the few Ohio Class B high school grid combines remaining in the unbeaten, untied list—have chalked up four consecutive Mid-State league triumphs without a great deal of trouble.

But tonight the green-uniformed pigskin warriors face one of their biggest tests of the season when Bellville's fast-stepping club invades Madison stadium for a crucial battle under the lights Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Bellville has dropped only one tilt this season, bowing to the heavy unbeaten Mt. Gilead Indians, 12 to 7. Since that defeat the club has staged a brilliant comeback. Last week it trounced the Danville Blue Devils, 31 to 7.

The edge, if any, will go to the heavier Rams, who for the second time this year will start with every member of the regulars in the lineup. Coach Al Fendrick's club will open hostilities with Harner, Gerald Hershey, Joe Miller and Gene Harmon in the backfield.

In the other league games Loudonville finishes its season at Mt. Gilead against the Indians, and Fredericktown invades Danville for a game that will close the year for both teams. Butler closed its season last week.

LEADS PRO FOOTBALL SCORING

Hinkle, Green Bay Ace, Tops Dutch Clark by Eight Points.

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Clark Hinkle of the champion Greenbay Packers has increased his lead to eight points over Dutch Clark of the Detroit Lions in the National League race for individual scoring honors.

Hinkle scored seven points against the Chicago Bears last Sunday to run his total for the season to 53 while Clark's 45 remained unchanged from last week. Hinkle also continued third among the leading ground gainers with 387 yards in 101 attempts.

Cliff Battles, of Washington, although inactive last week, maintained his position as the best ground gainer with 507 yards in 122 attempts, an average of 4.1 yards.

Bob Monett of Greenbay continued to lead in pass efficiency with 28 completions in 55 attempts for 496 yards and a mark of 50 per cent. His ground gained, however, fell far short of the 778 yards piled up by Sammy Baugh of Washington, who had completed 56 in 118 for an average of 47 per cent.

Don Hutson of Greenbay came close to overhauling idle Gaynell Tinsley of the Chicago Cardinals in the pass-receiving department. Hutson, who set a record of 34 forwards caught last year, had 26 compared to Tinsley's 28. Tinsley continued to lead in yardage through the air, with a total of 500.

Kent State Wins, 14-0

ASHLAND — Kent State university brought its grid season to a close here Thursday with a 14 to 0 triumph over Ashland college. The Flashes pushed over scores in the second and final chapters of the game to win. Ashland never penetrated inside the Kent 20. Hall grabbed a touchdown pass from Rentschler for the opening score, and Harrington contributed No. 2 after taking a lateral from Hall on the Ashland 15.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE

SPOKANE, Wash.—(U.P.)—There are two types of wolves up here in the north country—the timber and the football—and opinion is divided as to which is the deadlier.

There are a lot more football wolves than timber ones though. The latter type is almost extinct, in fact, but the football wolves—Lobo Alumnus, to give them their scientific name—are here by the thousands.

The largest pack in the state is operating now around Seattle. It is after Jimmy Phelan, coach of the Washington Huskies. This time last year the football wolves were very fond of Phelan, wearing their best sheep's clothing, frolicked about him with the friendliness of collie pups.

But that was last year when Phelan's Huskies rode roughshod through the Pacific Coast conference without losing a game, and wound up getting the coveted bid to participate in the Rose Bowl festivities at Pasadena. This year Washington's team has found the going tough. Already it has been beaten by Oregon State and Stanford, and tied by Washington State and California.

The wolves think Phelan should be removed. In defeat they can see no good in him, which makes them identical with the other wolves all over the country.

Last year they thought his coaching plan, and the manner in which he taught it, very much okay. But this year, on one Seattle paper's editorial page, was an article which said there were only two things wrong with Washington university football—the coach and the system. This article criticized the presence of out-of-the-state players on the team, and pointed out that the Washington crew won the Olympic title with home-bred boys, coached by a home-bred coach. Last year no one took the trouble to look up the birthplaces of the players.

The barking of the Seattle pack was quieted quite a bit last week when he Huskies came through with a surprising 0-0 tie against mighty California. The Californians went into this game hailed as the super team of the year, mighty and invincible.

There's one nice thing about Lobo Alumnus—he easily can be domesticated. Just feed him a steady diet of victories and he will forget how to growl and snap. But don't change his diet. As soon as you do that he reverts to type and starts looking for a nice coach's pelt to chew on.

Achine Beats Stecklin In Headline Bout

COMEDY — the farce variety — headlined the weekly wrestle show staged last night in the Armory by the Quality club.

"Hillbilly" Lem Stecklin, the Tennessee mountaineer, and Walter Achiue, the Shanghai "Charlie Chaplin," presented one of the most entertaining exhibitions ever staged in the local "hall of torture"—that is, if you like comedy with your "wrasslin'."

Achiue, the Chinese funster, was the biggest laugh getter when he went into hysterics every time the "Mountaineer" shoved him into the corner where Stecklin had parked his pet 'coon.

Achiue also displayed the best brand of wrestling when, after 20 minutes he applied the painful leglock to make the be-whiskered Tenneessean cry "enough."

The second fall also went to Achiue when, after the same routine of comedy, he bounced Stecklin off the ropes and pinned him with the old "rockin' chair." This fall required 12 minutes.

Blake took the first fall of this elimination bout after a series of body slams that left the Canadian grappler in a bad way. But the Babe came back to take the next stanza in grand style after Blake had slammed him to the resin pad repeatedly. The Babe turned the tables on Blake and slammed him to the mat, then gripped one arm and played the old game of "crack the whip," whipping Blake against the ropes and pinning him with a shoulder butt and body smother as he rebounded from the hemps.

Blake was too tough for Kasaboski, though, as he took the deciding fall and the match when he heaved the Babe from the ring, the Canadian being unable to continue. Time of falls: First, 15 minutes; second, 8 minutes; third, 7 minutes.

A highly-entertaining curtain raiser presented Bud Steele of Plymouth, and Joe Wheeler, a battle scarred veteran from Cleveland. They wrestled 20 minutes to a draw, but Referee Clarence Miller awarded the decision to Steele after Wheeler persisted in slugging after the bell had ended the bout.

KENMORE INVADES TYGER LAIR FOR GRID BATTLE SATURDAY

AN OPPORTUNITY to prove that its aerial defense is on a par with the other departments of its grid machine will be offered the Mansfield high combine Saturday when it tackles the passing demons of Akron Kenmore at Stadium field.

Whether the Tygers can rise to the occasion and halt the Cardinals' great passing game is questionable, but Mansfield has been spending considerable time this week preparing for the situation.

Although the Tygers victory chances are rather bright, since Akron has been unable to win a tilt after defeating Akron Buchtel, 20-7, a month ago, Mansfield must stop Lloyd Miller, the Cardinals' wild man.

Miller, Akron City league's leading scorer, has figured prominently in the invaders' triumphs. A sample of his ability was shown when Kenmore defeated Cuyahoga Falls, 29-7.

He scored four touchdowns, bucked over two extra points and hurled a pass for another. His best effort was a 98-yard touchdown gallop after intercepting a pass.

The star will operate behind a veteran line that in weight will equal Mansfield's stellar forward wall.

Two lineman, Conrad Prasher and Roy Cummings are playing their fourth year of varsity football. Prasher, a tackle, frequently shifts out to end to snag passes, while Cummings is the club's crack guard.

Mansfield's vaunted running attack will be in top shape for the tussle. The ankle injury suffered by Johnny Hallibrin after the Massillon game has healed, and the hard-running back will carry the brunt of the Tygers' attack. Dick Nagle will start at fullback, Johnny Kinkle shares the halfback posts with Hallibrin and Joe Majoy, ace blocker will be at the quarterback post.

ILLINOIS EVEN BET AGAINST BUCKS

By TOMMY DEVINE

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—One of the mid-west's bitterest football rivalries will be renewed here Saturday when Illinois and Ohio State meet.

Ten days ago it appeared certain Ohio's homecoming game would be witnessed by a near capacity crowd of 70,000. However, the Bucks' loss last week reduced the attractiveness of the contest and the top estimate now was for 50,000 fans.

Despite a record that shows two losses and two ties in six games, Illinois was regarded as an even money bet against the slumping Ohio State eleven. The Bucks were listless in practice throughout the week and are not at full strength because of injuries received in the Indiana game last Saturday.

Zuppke was optimistic of his team's chances.

"We have developed steadily since the start of the season," Zuppke said, "and the boys showed to their best advantage of the year last week against Northwestern. I'm confident our defense will be able to throttle Ohio's attack. As to our offense, I'd rather not talk about it."

Illinois has given up only 26 points in six games. Notre Dame, De Paul and Northwestern were held scoreless. Ohio university and Michigan scored a touchdown each and Indiana two.

Illini Offense Weak.

Illinois has garnered only 38 points this season, but staunch followers of the team were confident Zuppke had saved an offensive trick or two for the Ohio State game. In common with practically every other Big Ten coach, Zuppke would rather beat a team coached by gruff Francis A. Schmidt than the product of any other mentor in the conference.

Zuppke sprang a new offensive weapon on Northwestern last week, the pin-wheel. It was expected he would employ it, with variations, here tomorrow. In the new formation of the canny Dutchman, two backfieldmen face away from the line.

Injuries and dismal performances against Indiana have brought alterations in Ohio State's backfield. Nick Wasylik, the elusive little New Yorker who has played "second fiddle" to other backs for three seasons, will start at quarterback. Jim Miller, another senior who has seen little service, will be at left half; Dick Nardi at right half, and Co-Captain Jim McDonald at fullback.

THE SPORTS ROUND-UP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK—(AP)—Looks like that New York Giant football team is going to be on (or around) the top for a long time to come. . . . Ginger Foran, crack British featherweight, was no sooner off the boat than he was offered $2,500 to fight Henry Armstrong on Ed Bang's Cleveland News Christmas fund show. Ginger turned it down right now. We don't blame him. The way to debut in America is not against Henry Armstrong. . . . It's big news in the mid-west when Michigan State plays a game around home. This year the Spartans are booked for three games in the east, two in the "Big Six" and one on the Pacific coast.

* * *

Latest candidate for the "red face" club is Halbert J. (Buck) Blue of Aberdeen, N. C. . . . In the last 25 years he has played thousands of rounds over the golf courses at nearby Pinehurst, but never crashed Prof. Paul Mickelson's hole-in-one club . . . Last week he entertained Hampden M. Swift of the St. Louis Swifts . . . Imagine how Mr. Blue felt when his guest hit a No. 5 iron so perfectly it popped into the 14th hole . . . (Mr. Swift's first round at Pinehurst, too.)

* * *

Put down Garry Kline of the Emporia State Teachers' college as a candidate for the AP's "little all-America" . . . Besides being an outstanding defensive end, this bird carries the ball and does the bulk of the punting . . . He's been an all-conference and all-state choice for three years and it's high time he was getting some national recognition.

* * *

Joe Guyon, jr., son of one of Walter Camp's greatest all-America picks, is going great guns for Catholic U. at Washington . . . Murray Agricultural college at Tishomingo, Okla., with a student enrollment of only 525, has four golden glove boxers on its roster. . . . Johns Hopkins is rating a big hand for "pioneering" in simon-pure athletics by discarding gate receipts and guarantees, but little Bethany college near Wheeling, W. Va., threw open the gates to all athletic contests more than a decade ago . . . Policy is still in effect.

* * *

PASTOR BELIEVES MODERN GRIDSTERS ARE 'SISSIES'

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The Rev. W. C. Laughbaum . . . Lutheran pastor at New Springfield, village of 300 in Mahoning county . . . has a hunch that modern football players are "sissies."

He also gets quite a kick out of present-day squabbles over eligibility of athletes . . . and the Big Ten's refusal to meet West Point teams until the cadets adopt the three-year rule.

* * *

Johnny Rabb's status at Ohio State (Johnny played a bit of freshman football at Fordham and may be ruled off the stadium turf next year as a result) . . . makes the pastor raise his eyebrows.

* * *

Football . . . and football players . . . he'll tell you, have deteriorated since he cavorted on the gridiron for Wittenberg around the turn of the century.

* * *

Back in those olden, golden days, Mr. Laughbaum played guard, tackle and halfback for the Lutherans. He didn't play all three positions at once, but he hung around long enough to become proficient at each.

* * *

As a Wittenberg student he played in 1897, 1898, 1899 and 1900. Then, while a student in the seminary, he played in 1901, 1902 and 1903. He skipped a year . . . and then came back for some post-graduate work . . . and played in 1905, stringing his eight varsity seasons over nine years.

* * *

His collar bone was broken in the 19th century . . . and his nose was wrecked in the 20th century . . . each injury sending him to the hospital.

* * *

Recently, when Wittenberg sent life-time passes to its former lettermen . . . the athletic department debated whether to pin a blue ribbon on that of Mr. Laughbaum . . . but finally decided against it.

* * *

Mr. Laughbaum remembers the high points of a 70-minute game with Ohio State in 1905 . . . his eighth season with the Lutherans . . . but the 10 extra minutes, the result of a timer's mistake . . . didn't mean much to him.

Shoots 658 to Win Honors

ISSUES DECLINE AS MART WAITS FEDERAL HELP

Price Trends Indefinite With Recent Rallying Stocks Falling Back.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Price trends were indefinite in today's stock market with many recently rally issues inclined to fall back under more urgent offerings.

While hopes were still high Washington would render practical aid to sagging business and industry, some traders apparently were not averse to cashing profits from Wednesday's session and adjourning to the side-lines pending the president's message to congress Monday.

Wheat futures bounded up briskly. Bonds were uneven. Buying of American securities from abroad was heavier.

Studied for revival clues was the week-end survey of Dun & Bradstreet which found some pickup in retail demand but spotty conditions in other quarters.

It was pointed out that "while industrial schedules continued to droop in many of the heavy goods and textile divisions, evidence appeared of consumption surpassing the restricted output."

A drop in temperatures, it was said, brought more inquiries for winter goods and sales for the week ran from 3 to 7 per cent over the preceding week and were 5 to 15 per cent larger than in the corresponding 1936 period.

The review stressed the drop in bituminous coal production which was extended to 2.8 per cent for the week and to 9 per cent less than the tonnage mined in the asme time a year ago.

SOLONS TO GET SLOW START AT NEW SESSION

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Predictions of a slow beginning for the special session of congress come today from Democratic leaders, who nevertheless pledged themselves to expedite the Roosevelt program.

Speaker Bankhead said he believed it inevitable that the house would have to "jockey along a few days at a time" because farm legislation will not be ready when the session starts Monday.

Both Bankhead and Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic floor leader, said they would try to enact as many as possible of the president's five recommendations before the regular session meets in January.

Crop Control Up.

They mentioned crop control, government reorganization, regional planning and wage-hours standards. It appeared that the fifth administration proposal—anti-trust law revision — might hold over.

Because none of these subjects is entirely new, President Roosevelt will send his message to congress next week instead of delivering it in person.

A source of possibe conflict between the two chambers already has appeared. The senate committee seems to be leaning toward compulsory farm control, members said, and the house committee toward voluntary regulation.

Aside from farm legislation, the greatest uncertainty is in regard the wage-hour bill, passed last summer by the senate. Leaders must decide quickly whether to try to force it from the house rules committee, which has blocked its path to the floor, or to revise it and start over.

Board Decides Ohio Coal Sold Intra-State Subject to Act.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — In its first intra-state decision, the bituminous coal commission held today that all Ohio coal sold in intra-state commerce is subject to the coal code, effective Dec. 15.

The commission ruled that substantially all bituminous coal transactions in Ohio directly affect interstate commerce and that failure to regulate it would impose discrimination upon coal in interstate commerce.

The commission said it had determined the weighted average costs of bituminous coal in minimum price areas numbers 1 and 2, which areas comprise all coal producing states east of the Mississippi river except Alabama, at $2.15 and $1.79 a net ton respectively. From these costs the commission will establish minimum prices.

Food store sales account for 25 per cent of the consumers' dollar in the United States. Some 21 per cent goes for clothing and related items.

THEATER

HOLLYWOOD players are kidding Katherine Hepburn unmercifully about her prima donna edict demanding a closed stage to work on. The next day on the adjoining stage this sign appeared: "This set is open. Everybody welcome. Don't mind if we don't talk to you because we're in a h— of a hurry." It was signed by Sally Eilers and Preston Foster. Soon Cary Grant put up a sign outside his studio: "Greatest Show on Earth. See Nissa, the leopard. 25 cents—also Hepburn and Grant. 10 cents." Then Ginger Rogers and Doug Fairbanks, jr., put up their contribution to the ribbing: "This set isn't opened and it isn't closed. We don't know what it is." And while the jibes are in good clean fun, friends of La Hepburn secretly hope that it will have its effect and bring the star down to earth.

Stars Turn Comics.

Replete with sparkling comedy and smart dialogue, "Breakfast For Two," co-starring Barbara Stanwyck and Herbert Marshall, is said to provide an entertaining vehicle for the comedy talents of the two players. Both Miss Stanwyck and Marshall, while possessing ability in dramatic roles, have attained distinction in comedy portrayals. Based upon a "woman chases man" theme, "Breakfast For Two," has a cast of character players which includes Glenda Farrell, Eric Blore, Eitenne Girardot, Donald Meek and others. It is the Ohio theater attraction.

Drama of Old West.

The story of two brothers, separated for almost two decades and brought back together again under strange circumstances, is dealt with in "Thunder Trail," which opens at the Madison today for a two-day engagement. The story is unfolded in a setting of roaring guns, as a wagon train is demolished and its people massacred on the Western plains. Two small boys, brothers, are the sole survivors and they are taken away by two different men. The circumstances under which they meet, years later, makes an interesting yarn. Gilbert Roland, Latin player, is one brother and James Craig is the other. Marsha Hunt and Charles Bickford are the other leads.

Ride With Scouts.

Cowboys join forces with a troop of Boy Scouts to round up a gang of gold bandits in the Western film "Tex Rides With The Boy Scouts," which the Majestic presents for the last two days of the week. Again a gold train is robbed, this time a bullion train carrying $1,000,000. Tex Ritter and his buddies ride down to a Boy Scouts camp and enlist the aid of the boys in rounding up the bandits. An unusual story is found in "Federal Bullets" the second feature. An old lady heading a humanitarian organization, turns out to be an entirely different character, and an escaped murderer gives a G man a run for his money.

Saddlemates Ride Again.

That popular trio, Hopalong Cassidy, Windy and Lucky, ride again in "Rustler's Valley," Ritz attraction, with William Boyd, and his inseparable pals, Russell Hayden, and George Hayes. Most of the action is filmed in a ghost town of the gold rush days in California, where the three saddle mates get their man. A dramatic and timely story is told in "The Wrong Road," the second attraction at the Ritz, with Richard Cromwell and Helen Mack, in which a boy and girl plan to steal enough money to live on comfortably for the rest of their lives after they get out of prison.
